NEW ENGLAND HURRICANE DEATH LIST RISES TO 465

Heaviest Loss of Life in Rhode Island, Where 230 Persons Were Killed Wednesday—112 Fatalities in Massachusetts.

MANY TOWNS STILL CUT OFF FROM AID

Flooded Rivers Receding in Several States and It Is Expected That Heavy Flood Damage Will Be Averted.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Latest reports from Rhode Island's hurricane-ravaged areas increased to 61 today the death toll from Wednesday's storm along the North Atlantic coast.

Swollen rivers continued an added menace in New England, but officials expected widespread flood damage would be averted. From Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and Maine, reports came that rivers were receding and even in Connecticut, previously the most seriously endangered, the situation appeared brighter.

In New Hampshire, communications lines to many storm-stricken communities remained silent and it was not known whether that state's death list of 13 might be increased. Dams were washed away, roads were blocked and wires down. Telephone company executives reported damage to their lines in the state was the worst in years.

Massachusetts' deaths stood at 112. Connecticut's at 57, New York's at 4, New Jersey's and Vermont's at 1.

Heavy Rhode Island Loss.

It was in Rhode Island, where 20 were reported dead, that the greatest loss of life occurred.

A radio news message described the recovery of 18 bodies at Island Park, Portsmouth, R. I., as "only scraping the surface."

Fifty persons or more perished when a six-foot tidal wave engulfed houses at Point Judith and Watch Hill, R. I., the Coast Guard found. A survey party reported "damage tremendous."

With a large part of the State still cut off from telephone and telegraphic communication, highway and railroad traffic, the list still was far from complete.

For the third successive day, communication between Boston and most of New Hampshire was impossible. There was no way of reaching directly such communities as Nashua, Keene, Peterborough, Laconia or the White Mountain region. Gov. Francis P. Murphy ordered a aerial survey yesterday but the information obtained was very sketchy. A 100-foot swath was reported cut through timber in one of the notches in the White Mountains but the exact location was not determined.

The Merrimack River was receding at Concord.

Food Sent by Plane.

Tree-logged highways prevented access to 1,500 persons at Gilbertville, Mass. Notified of their plight by carrier pigeon, the State Health Department commanded a plane to send them anti-typhoid serum and food. Floods just outside neighboring Holden blocked three roads loaded with food for Gilbertville.

Good news for inundated Springfield, Mass., was word from emergency relief headquarters that the Connecticut river had dropped two feet at Turners Falls, Mass., nearly 50 miles upstream. Police evacuation of 5,000 persons in the low-lying north and south ends scattered families and friends. Five hundred families were on duty.

Fallen trees and flood waters isolated Northampton, Mass., home of Smith College, 18 miles north, and left it without power or communications.

High school boys and scouts of the Civilian Conservation Corps were piling up sandbag dikes along the churning river.

The body of Henry L. Lewis, 62, of Bridgeport (Conn.) manufacturer, was recovered late yesterday, but his wife, Republican nominee for Secretary of State, is still missing. Only his daughter, their 26-year-old daughter, could be pulled to safety when the storm swept away a beach cottage into the sea 10 miles east of New Haven.

RUMANIA TO PASS SOVIET TROOPS IF FRANCE AND BRITAIN FIGHT FOR CZECHS

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 23.—SOVIET sources at the League of Nations said today Petrescu Comnen, Rumanian delegate, had renewed his country's pledge to allow Russian troops and supplies to pass through Rumania on their way to Czechoslovakia if provided France and Britain fight on the side of Moscow. Rumanians have refused such passage if Russia fights alone for Prague.

The Russian sources said Russia already had notified France of the exact number of planes, troops, guns and tanks it was ready to put into the field in the event of war over Czechoslovakia.

Earl De la War, British Cabinet member and delegate to the League, arrived at Geneva by airplane and immediately had a long conversation with Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov in a private room of the League Palace.

British sources said they discussed the positions of their governments "in respect to developments in the Czech situation."

A Russian spokesman commented that the "Franco-British bloc seems to be taking a stand."

OUT TO BUY PONIES, CHICAGOAN BRINGS HOME A CIRCUS

Purchaser Makes His Children Hosts at Free Show for the Needy.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Because their daddy went out to buy a couple of ponies and came home with a circus—lions, tigers and red wagons—Ivan Metius, 6 years old, and his sister, Elaine, 4, will be hosts at a free circus for "every poor kid in town" Oct. 9.

"Yes, it's true. That's the plan," said his father, Ivan L. Metius today. She confided she thought she had the world when it comes to wondering "what my husband will bring home tonight."

It started when Louis Metius, lumber contractor, read that the Sells-Sterling circus was going up for auction yesterday in Sheboygan, Wis. "Think I'll drive up and get a couple of ponies for the children," he told his wife.

"That was bad enough," said Mrs. Metius. "I wondered if they would move into the apartment, too. Then I got word yesterday he was buying tigers, lions—well, there's never a dull moment in my life," she laughed.

But that wasn't all. Metius was on his way home when he asked himself: "What's a circus without elephants?" He turned back and bought two elephants, five trained horses and a football-playing horse.

The circus will be encamped in a vacant lot adjoining Metius' lumber yard. There a week from next Sunday the circus will open.

LEADING STOCKS DOWN AFTER HITCH IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Prices Off $1 to $2 and $3 on New York Exchange—Bonds Decline.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—The financial district suffered another attack of war nervousness today after interruption of the conferences between Adolf Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Prices of leading issues on the Stock Exchange were $1 to $2 lower generally, with some down around $3 a share. Bond prices declined widely. Foreign exchange transactions were hard hit as the European situation became more intense. The British pound sterling fell, in terms of the dollar, below $4.80, off around 2 cents in the day's trading.

Wheat prices in Chicago advanced but cotton lost 25 to 45 cents a bale.

SOVIET MAY YET FIGHT FOR CZECHS, LITVINOV SAYS

Tells League Assembly Committee It May Give Help Voluntarily, but Not as Duty.

ASSERTS HIS NATION HAS CLEAN HANDS

Renews Promise That If France Will Go to War for Ally Against Invasion, So Will His Country.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Sept. 23.—Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs, told the League of Nations today that Soviet Russia might voluntarily go to the aid of Czechoslovakia "but no one can insist on this help as a duty."

In a surprise statement to the League Assembly's political committee, the Soviet Commissar declared his Government had "a clear conscience and clean hands in the Czechoslovak crisis."

The Soviet Government "he said, "may come to the aid of Czechoslovakia only in virtue of a voluntary decision on its part, or in virtue of a decision by the League but no one can insist on this help as a duty."

Litvinov repeated his pledge that if France would fight to protect Czechoslovakia, Russia would fulfill its obligations under the Soviet-Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact.

The Soviet Government, he said, "does not seek pretexts for evading fulfillment of its obligations under the Soviet-Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact."

He disclosed that he had promised the Czechoslovak that this was Russia's position even after the Prague Government had accepted the "ultimatum" which included an eventual denunciation of the Soviet-Czechoslovak pact.

The Soviet Government, he said, "does not seek pretexts for evading fulfillment of its obligations under the Soviet-Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact."

Although he had not been scheduled to speak, Litvinov walked into the political committee meeting and gave a brief resume of Russia's stand on Article 16 of the League Covenant—concerning the application of punitive measures against aggressor nations. Then he launched into his discussion of the Czechoslovak problem.

The text of his reference to Czechoslovakia follows:

"After the statement I made at the Assembly on the attitude of the Soviet Government to the Czech problem, I have heard it said that since the Soviet Government made its help to Czechoslovakia conditional upon similar help by France, it would appear equally guilty of breaking its pact of mutual assistance with Czechoslovakia."

"People who say this obviously are uncertain or pretend to be uncertain whether the Franco-Soviet and Soviet-Czechoslovak pacts of mutual assistance were the result of an agreement undertaken for the creation of a regional pact of mutual aid, with the participation of Germany and Poland based on the principle of collective assistance."

"In consequence of the refusal of the two countries I have just mentioned, France and Czechoslovakia, to accept the Franco-Soviet and Soviet-Czechoslovak pacts of mutual assistance, the Franco-Soviet pact of mutual assistance was more intense. The British pound sterling fell, in terms of the dollar, below $4.80, off around 2 cents in the day's trading.

CZECHS REPORT INCREASING SUDETEN CLASHES AND CASUALTIES

OFFICIAL GERMAN BACKING INDICATED IN SOME PLACES

Statement Given Out in London Quotes Returning Refugees as Saying Reich Officers and Soldiers Are to Follow Them.

NAZI UNIFORMS ON SOME FIGHTERS
Berlin Declares, However, These Are Free Corps Men and Denies That S.S. and S. A. Troops Have Crossed Border.

By the Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 23.—A statement issued by Czechoslovak official sources tonight said there was intensified activity by Sudeten Germans along the Czechoslovak-German border, with clashes and some casualties.

The statement, issued on the basis of late reports from Prague, added:

"Refugees who returned to Czechoslovakia in the Freivaldu district refer to an order from Neisse (Germany) that German officials were following them."

"In another place it was stated that the insurgents (Sudeten) were to be followed by 3000 German soldiers."

"In the Schluenkau district, insurgents were interspersed with groups of (German Nazi) S. A. and S. S. men, who penetrated several kilometers from Czechoslovakia."

"From the fact that at Caste Hamry 10 Czech custom officers were taken captive by German custom officers, it would appear that in some cases the insurgents were given assistance by German authorities."

"Advices from Berlin said that the appearance of some Sudeten free corps men in Nazi S. A. overcoats at Seidenberg had led to the assumption in some quarters that German Storm Troop and Elite Guard members were participating in border fights. German officials said, however, that this was not true. It was pointed out that at Linz, volunteers from the S. A. and S. S. ranks were refused permission to join the Sudeten free corps."

In Bayreuth, the local free corps commander accepted S. A. volunteers. On the whole, however, Berlin observers said that there were enough Sudeten Germans willing to join the free corps to make extensive use of S. A. and S. S. men unnecessary.

EIGHT KILLED, MANY INJURED IN CLASHES

By the Associated Press
PRAGUE, Sept. 23.—Government sources reported today that eight persons were killed and many others wounded in frontier clashes last night between Sudeten German party members and armed Czechoslovak guards.

The most serious incident was reported from the small town of Freivaldu, in the western part of Sudetenland. There Czechoslovak gendarmerie and Sudeten fought a short battle in which four Czechs were killed and 12 wounded.

In another fight, at Habakladu, three Sudeten party members were reported shot to death. This incident was said to have started when a crowd of civilians attacked Czechoslovak guards.

One Czech soldier was killed by a shot in the back in the Karlov Vary region, said the Government reports.

Several Czech gendarmes were kidnapped by Sudeten volunteers at Gottergad and taken across the border. One escaped and carried news of the incident back across the frontier.

At Hammern, near Trossnitz, 10 Czechoslovak custom guards were besieged by a crowd of Germans which Prague officials said included German gendarmes and custom guards. Later, the reports said, the Germans took over the custom house there.

From several other points came reports of clashes and kidnappings.

The Government said, however, that all these incidents had been "liquidated" and were under investigation.

In all cases of violence, Prague officials said, Czechoslovak guards were under orders to withhold fire which might send bullets across the border into Germany and provoke more serious disorders.

DNB REPORTS FIGHT AT EGER; 16 KILLED

CHAMBERLAIN ON PHONE WITH CABINET ADVISERS

Official Quarters in London Declare Britain Won't Support Complete Partition of Czechoslovakia.

By the Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 23.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's letter to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler causing a postponement in Godesberg talks was reported reliably today to have followed telephone conversations between Chamberlain and key ministers here.

There was no official confirmation as to persons involved in these talks or the nature of Chamberlain's letter.

It was believed, however, that Chamberlain had appealed to Hitler not to send troops into Czechoslovakia and at the same time told him Britain could not go beyond the British-French plan for a settlement.

Polish Ambassador Received. Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, received Count Raczyński, the Polish Ambassador, and Russian chargé d'affaires S. B. Kagan after a long conference with Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Churchill, said the Times, "takes preventive war while the Prime Minister practices preventive diplomacy."

The Archbishop of York issued a statement condemning Chamberlain's policy as "sheer opportunism."

The Archbishop urged calling a congress of Europe to discuss orderly treatment of the problems of World War treaty revision.

"There is inevitable bewilderment in the public mind . . . yet it must continue as long as our policy seems to be based on sheer opportunism," he said.

Avoidance of war "can only be justifiable or tolerable if the general principles of our policy are both evident and morally sound," the Archbishop declared.

A Polish Embassy spokesman announced special "protective and restrictive" measures had been imposed on several districts on the Polish side of the Czechoslovak border near the Polish-inhabited Teschen area of Czechoslovakia. He said frontier police and guards had been strengthened and restrictions had been placed on travel across the frontier to Czechoslovakia.

Official quarters held to the attitude that Hitler would not go support from Britain for complete partition of Czechoslovakia.

Reliable informants said Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had made it clear his talk with Hitler were to be about Germans, and that there should be no discussion of claims Hungary or Poland might have regarding their minority populations in Czechoslovakia.

Displeasure at Berlin Press.

A clash between a Sudeten German band and Czechoslovak soldiers was averted today when the Czechoslovak troops halted their advance toward Asch, in Sudetenland near the German border. The troops withdrew one mile to the east, off the main highway to Tirschnitz, from where they had stood at Ober Lomnitz just outside the resort town of Franzenhof, on the border of Silesia. The news agency said a section of railway had been blown up south of Rumburg, near the Saxon frontier.

CZECH TROOPS HALT, CLASH IS Averted

By the Associated Press
ASCH, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 23.—A clash between a Sudeten German band and Czechoslovak soldiers was averted today when the Czechoslovak troops halted their advance toward Asch, in Sudetenland near the German border. The troops withdrew one mile to the east, off the main highway to Tirschnitz, from where they had stood at Ober Lomnitz just outside the resort town of Franzenhof. They left road patrols behind, however.

The Sudeten Germans remained behind barbed-wire on the main highway between Eger and Asch. Asch is the home town of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader.

The troops had left Asch when the Prague Government's surrender to the British-French partition plan was announced Wednesday.

Czechoslovak officials and police resumed their functions at Eger last night. They had orders from Prague to retract agreements they had made locally with the Sudeten German leaders. A five-man Government set up in Eger by the Sudeten Germans was displaced. Sudeten German vigilance corps, which began Wednesday to patrol the streets, disappeared and regular police returned.

The new Government at Prague under Gen. Jan Syrový was held responsible here for the change in the situation.

ITALY BIDS FOR PART IN CZECH NEGOTIATIONS

'Right and Duty' to Be Presented Sounded as Mussolini Puts on Martial Show.

By the Associated Press

ROME, Sept. 23.—Premier Mussolini reviewed 10,000 blackshirt troops today in Rome's first big martial demonstration since the Czechoslovak crisis became acute. He made no speech.

The occasion was the dedication of the reconstructed Ara Pacis (Altar of Peace), the original of which was dedicated by the Emperor Augustus on his return from his Spanish and Gallic campaigns nearly 2000 years ago.

Government officials and big industry plants released their employees to attend the ceremony, which was intended to be a demonstration of Italian solidarity with Germany and with Hungary and Poland in their demands on their minorities in Czechoslovakia.

"It will not be useless to record," Gayda wrote in the newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia, "that Italy, which had a substantial part in the Great War, also has a right as well as a duty to be present and heard in this revision of the peace in which already echo sinister sounds of a new, deplorable conflict."

FRANCE DOES ABOUT FACE AND PREPARES FOR WAR

Government had ordered army detachments to assume a "state of alert" on the German, Belgian, Italian and Spanish frontiers.

The statement attributed to Daladier would mean that France, reversing its previous stand, would now be prepared to make war on Germany if German armies crossed the Czechoslovak frontier.

In that case, Daladier was quoted as saying, Parliament would be called immediately afterward to vote finance bills.

Resignation Reported Pledged.

Earlier parliamentary circles said that Premier Daladier had agreed to submit the blanket resignation of his Government as soon as the European crisis "takes a definite turn one way or the other."

The decision, made necessary by a split in the Cabinet, over the policies of Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet, followed reports that revolting Cabinet members had forced from Daladier a promise that France would make no more concessions to Germany.

The Cabinet was said to be split, nine to nine, over Daladier's refusal to fulfill French obligations to aid Poland.

Reports from Teichen, Silesia, received here tonight declare that there has been fighting between Czech soldiers and the Polish population," the dispatch said. "Soldiers fired on a crowd. Two Poles were killed and 10 injured."

Teichen straddles the Polish-Czechoslovak frontier extending on the Czechoslovak side into an area inhabited by Poles which Warsaw demands be ceded to Poland in any partition of Czechoslovakia.

Gen. Faucher was in Prague as a French military mission.

INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS.

Resumes of international obligations, he said, were "hitherto thought to be the privilege of a certain type of aggressor state which confesses only to a faith which might be right."

"From now onward, however, these breaches of international agreement have become the prerogative of other states which continue to proclaim their fidelity to the ideals of the League."

Why, he asked, should League states haggle over interpretation of an article of the League covenant concerning punitive measures against an aggressor "if every member of the League can interpret the article as he pleases?"

They were said to have resented Daladier for having ignored his Cabinet and without their knowledge took vital decisions, in agreeing with Britain to urge the cession of Czechoslovak Sudetenland to Germany.

Financial Difficulties.

Financial difficulties added to Daladier's worries, with the franc falling yesterday on news of heavy Government borrowing and with large scale hoardings by persons who wanted to have a supply of cash on hand if war came.

The financial effects of the crisis were said to have been a Bank of France loan of 1,000,000,000 francs ($100,000,000) under provisions for loans to the state without interest.

This brought the total of such borrowing to 21,000,000,000 francs ($263,350,000).

One published report said to have come from German sources in Godesberg, described the Hitler-Chamberlain interview as "harsh."

That report said Hitler demanded the right to move troops 8.7 miles into Sudetenland today and refused to give any guarantees for the frontier of the new Czechoslovakia.

Delegates at a meeting of the London branch of the Civil Service Clerical Association, a powerful independent trade union, adopted this resolution:

"This meeting regards with shame the Government's proposal to betray Czechoslovakia, urges Parliament to be recalled immediately and that in the interests of European peace."

Unless such settlement is effected, it is granted freely here that Chamberlain's peace mission will be condemned relentlessly in Britain.

There were brief street demonstrations yesterday by 2000 members of the International Peace Campaign, who shouted through Whitehall street "Stand by the what the Prime Minister and Hitler told each other was contained in a Nazi news agency announcement, which said:

The Fuehrer's reply to Mr. Chamberlain's question of this morning reached the English Prime Minister shortly after 2:30 p.m.

"Today's exchange of messages served the purpose of putting in precise language the standpoints of both sides."

"It is to be expected that the conversations will continue."

However, there was a general feeling among reliable observers that Chamberlain had outlined the essential conditions without which he could not proceed with the conference.

Hungarians and Poles.

The assertion that Hitler might refuse to guarantee the integrity of rebuilt Czechoslovakia unless Poland and Hungary also get minority favors was made in German quarters today.

Chamberlain's letter to Hitler came when there were reports of new and heavy German troop concentrations near the Czechoslovak frontier.

Neither Warsaw nor Budapest can be expected to guarantee the "Polish border" if their nationality groups remain within them, said the Berlin Tagblatt. "Does anybody expect that Germany could extend its guarantees to a fragile state which still shows fundamental defects in construction?"

The Tagblatt gave another clue to the direction of the talks, first of which was on Sept. 15 at Berchtesgaden, Germany.

The newspaper alleged that Poland was gaining a foothold in Prague and said:

"Bolshevism must be liquidated immediately in the interest of peace, for the sake of a definite status quo among the local conditions in Czechoslovakia are such as not in any way to interfere with the progress of the conversations" — was interpreted as neutral quarters as conditions for the continuation of the conferences, which began Sept. 15 at Berchtesgaden and were resumed here yesterday.

One of Chamberlain's conditions was reported unofficially to be that Hitler help arrange such a truce.

It was known that Chamberlain received an urgent telephone call from Prague this afternoon.

Even before the consultation was postponed today, there were clear indications that the British Prime Minister's attitude toward Hitler's demands for the partition of Czechoslovakia had stiffened.

At the time today's communiqué was issued there was such confusion at both Godesberg and Petersberg that many believed the talks had begun. Chamberlain, however, remained at his hotel.

Hungarians and Poles.

Accounts of border disturbances caused a storm of indignation in the controlled press. Headlines read: "The Red military dictatorship begins with a bloody crime"; "Prague orders attacks"; "Reds to lead the soldiers."

Ex-Convict Whose Brother Ran Cuckoo Gang and Bartender Released to Appear Sept. 30.

PISTOL CARTRIDGES IN BARKEEPER'S AUTO

Others Associated With Herman Tipton in Coin Phonograph Business Picked Up by Police.

Hugh McTigue, president of the recently formed Independent Phonograph Operators' Association, was questioned at Police Headquarters today in the inquiry into the murder of Arthur Schading, attributed to the bitter feud in the co-operated electric phonograph business, which is being organized by rival associations of owners and rival labor unions.

After McTigue had left, Chief of Detectives John J. Carroll told reporters McTigue had no information of value in the investigation. Schading, business agent of the electricians' union, was assassinated by two gunmen Monday night. His union has a closed shop contract with the International Association of Automatic Electric Phonograph Owners, for the servicing of phonographs. McTigue's association of phonograph operators has a working agreement with the teamsters' union for the servicing of its instruments.

McTigue, a pensioned railway hall clerk, lives at 5390 Pershing avenue. He is a brother of Peter and John McTigue, associates of Herman Tipton, leader of the now extinct Cuckoo gang. Peter McTigue was the victim of a gang killing in 1930. Tipton is now a phonograph distributor, affiliated with McTigue's association.

Roy Tipton, brother of Herman, and John Gleason, a bartender who was arrested with him Wednesday night, were released this afternoon on bonds of $10,000. They had been released last night after being held the 20-hour limit, and promptly re-arrested.

The bond for Roy Tipton, a former convict, was provided by Morris Kanner, a professional bondsman, and that of Gleason by Frank Rader, also a professional bondsman. Both bonds are returnable Sept. 30 in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Police said four cartridges, three for a .32-caliber automatic pistol and one for a .32-caliber revolver, were found in Gleason's automobile, at the time of his arrest. He told them he had not known of the presence of the cartridges in the automobile, saying he had purchased it only recently.

Tipton Aids Questioned.

Others questioned and released today were John Delorme, an electrician; Elmer Neustraeder, laborer, said by police to have been an associate of Tipton, and George Hoeyneck, an electrician, who, police said, was formerly an employee of Tipton.

A general contractor and phonograph distributor was arrested for questioning yesterday when police learned that about a month ago he had gone to the Electrical Workers' Hall, Boyce and Gibson avenue, and made threats against Schading, who was not there.

Chief Carroll told reporters the contractor said he had been drinking at the time, and, if he made the threats, had no serious intention of putting them into effect. The contractor said, Chief Carroll reported, that some of his friends had taunted him by telling him Schading would take his phonograph away from him.

A .38 caliber revolver and 50 cartridges were found in the contractor's automobile. He was placed under bond and police said they would apply for a warrant charging him with carrying a concealed weapon.

Police have not yet succeeded in tracing ownership of a .45 caliber automatic pistol, one of the weapons with which Schading was killed. The other, a .32 caliber revolver, proved to be one stolen in 1930 by the Geller, Ward & Hause Hardware Co.

Phone Threat Reported.

The wife of David A. Jones, president of the electricians' union, reported to police that she had received an anonymous telephone message last night threatening her husband.

The voice of the caller, Mrs. Jones said, resembled that of the man who telephoned a threat last Aug. 16 a few hours after Jones had been assassinated by two Negroes. Last night the caller said: "Tell Dave we are going to put him where he put Schading—tell him to order his casket."

Jones had left his home at 109 Webster avenue, Webster Groves, a few minutes before the telephone was received. He went to the police station for a visit with

New State Office Building Hides Capitol

STONE work on Missouri's new state office building is nearing completion at Jefferson City. The structure, intended to house many of the state offices now renting space in the Jefferson City business district or which are crowded in the statehouse basement, faces the capitol. At the left may be seen a corner of the Supreme Court Building.

CIVIC NEEDS GROUP OPPOSES CUT IN ART MUSEUM LEVY

General Council, Representing 130 Organizations, Points to Cultural Value to City of Institution.

A protest against placing on the ballot in the November election a proposal to cut the City Art Museum tax in half was sent to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday by the General Council on Civic Needs, which represents about 130 civic and business organizations.

Among the arguments in favor of retaining the present two-cents in the $100 valuation rate, the Council points out, is the fact that the Museum has become one of the city's few great cultural assets and that to take away half of its tax would seriously handicap its work while doing little to reduce the city's deficit.

Reasons for Opposition. The protest is signed by W. O. Mulligard, chairman of the council. It first had been considered by the council's public buildings committee and yesterday was approved by the executive committee. The reasons for its opposition to the proposal are stated as follows:

"That since the existing form of management and income was authorized by the voters in 1909, the City Art Museum of St. Louis has reached a position where it is recognized as one of the outstanding institutions of its character in the United States.

"That to reduce its income by one-half would seriously handicap this institution which is one of the few cultural activities in the community, and that any community to be well balanced must provide for a variety of citizen needs.

"That the Comptroller's report of estimates for 1938-39 indicates the Art Museum will have but $173,895 tax income, and that the suggestion that one-half of this sum be diverted to general revenue as a means of reducing a deficit in excess of $29,000 is not a good reason for taking the proposed step.

"That there is serious likelihood that many valuable objects of art loaned to the Museum by private citizens will be recalled, resulting in further curtailment of educational possibilities.

"And, finally, that the independent management of this institution should be maintained by reason of its demonstration since 1909 of its ability to provide an outstanding Art Museum for this community.

"As a result of the fullest consideration in this matter the Council on Civic Needs conveys to you its opposition to the proposal, and urges that the present status of the Art Museum be maintained."

Decision Next Tuesday. The Board of Estimate will consider at its meeting next Tuesday whether or not to go ahead with plans to cut the tax rate. A petition bearing 100 names has been drawn and can be sent to the Board of Aldermen for decision as to whether it should go on the ballot.

The Board of Directors of the St. Louis League of Women Voters passed a resolution at its last meeting urging that the "control of the Art Museum funds remain as they are now."

SIX WPA PROJECTS TO COST TOTAL OF $893,000 APPROVED

District Director Says 1449 Persons Will Be Employed in St. Louis Area.

Final approval has been given six WPA projects in the St. Louis area involving a total cost of $893,206, and providing employment for 1449 persons, Lloyd E. Greathouse, district WPA director, announced yesterday.

Of the total cost, $717,203 will be provided by the Federal Government and the rest by local sponsors.

Projects, total cost and the number of persons to be employed,

PRAGUE APPEALS FOR ORDER AT BID OF CHAMBERLAIN

Gen. Syrovy's Bombers Drop Leaflets Asking People to Keep Calm During Negotiations.

NEW LEADER HERO OF SIBERIAN TREK

Serving With Czechs in Russian Army, He Led Them Around World After Revolution.

By the Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Sept. 23.—Czechs generally gave their acclaim today to the Government of Gen. Jan Syrovy, World War hero who became Premier in the crisis that arose from the decision to cede Sudeten frontier areas to Germany.

Army planes flew over Czechoslovakia today dropping circulars carrying an appeal by Gen. Syrovy asking the people to remain calm and refrain from further demonstrations.

The appeal was made on a suggestion received directly from British Prime Minister Chamberlain. It urged the people, including the Sudeten Germans, to abstain from activities which might lead to provocations during the negotiations at Godesberg.

Text of Appeal.

Premier Syrovy's circulars said:

"Citizens: In this eventful moment for the state and people, I beg of every one of you to keep your place—the soldier with his arms, the tiller of the soil with his tools, workers in their workshops and factories, clerks in their offices.

"The army watches over the safety of the republic and can fulfill its duty only when the people is unified and calm. Show your sentiments by your work for the state, go back to your duties because only in this way can we secure the defense of the state. Any further demonstrations can be of use only to the enemy."

Thousands scrambled excitedly to snatch the circulars fluttering from a bomber flying low over Prague. Few reached the pavement. Upstretched hands grabbed them as they came within reach and crowds formed to read them.

Benes Message to Army.

It was not "military Government" a communiqué emphasized this morning, but President Benes nevertheless called on the army to protect the people against "unfriendly elements" which he said were attempting to arouse enmity toward the Government.

President Benes, in a message to the army, said:

"In this day our nation is experiencing deep sorrow. Unfriendly elements are trying to stir the sorrow to arouse a spirit of enmity toward the Government, but you must remember that in this difficult time the uneasy people look to the army for security."

"In the army every citizen sees not only a defender of the nation but a defender of his person. The army will merit this faith to carry out without deviation the decisions of Government and its chief commander, the President of the republic."

"In every situation and at every price, the army must remain determined, ready and absolutely disciplined. It must be ready in every situation to perform its duty to the nation."

The communiqué defined the Syrovy Government as one of "order, controlled strength and experience," and not for "expression of political parties, but of work for the republic."

Excitement Subsides.

The immediate effect of the appointment of the new Government was to calm excited thousands. Yesterday they had engaged in demonstrations against cession of Sudetenland to Germany's demand and forced the resignation of Premier Milan Hodza.

Besides the Premier, the new Government included one other General, František Nošal, in charge of public works.

There was no immediate declaration of policy, but Gen. Syrovy, in a broadcast before he took office, appealed for order and urged the people to return to work.

Long weeks of diplomatic negotiations were predicted before it could be determined definitely just how much of Sudetenland Germany is to receive.

There was, too, before the new Cabinet the question of meeting demands of other minorities, particularly Hungarians and Poles.

Syrovy's Career.

Syrovy generally was regarded as an acceptable choice by Czechs, but he is thought to be friendly to Soviet Russia and therefore is not likely to meet favor in German eyes.

During the World War, he led thousands of Czech Legionnaires to safety across Asiatic Russia. They had been cut off when revolution broke out in Russia in 1917, and reached safety only by a 5000-mile trek across Russia to the Pacific and around the world by boat.

David Lloyd George, Britain's war-time Minister, termed the journey "one of the greatest epics of history."

Born in 1888 at Trebitsch, Moravia, Syrovy was a technical student in Warsaw when the war started. He volunteered in the Russian army against Germany and Austria-Hungary, which then included what is now Czechoslovakia.

In 1915 he was a Russian officer. He lost his right eye in 1917 in the battle of Eborow in Poland.

Under the republic he served as War Minister briefly in 1926 and became Inspector General of the army.

Makeup of Cabinet.

The only hold-over from the Hodza Cabinet was Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta, who shared with President Benes and Hodza the decision to accept the British-French proposal to yield to Germany's demand for Sudetenland.

Three Ministers without portfolio were named: Hugo Vavrecka, who has been in charge of the Government propaganda department; Peter Zenk, Mayor of Prague; and Dr. Stanislaus Rukavský.

Additional appointments included: Jan Fritz, unification of laws; Stanislaus Mendl, public health; Dr. Emil Reich, agriculture; Dr. Jan Hora, social welfare; Dr. Jan Černý, former Governor of Moravia, interior; Joseph Kafus, finance; Egbert Shubert, education; Vladimír Fajnor, justice; Heinrich Kamenicky, railways; Dr. Karel Dynovský, posts; Rudolf Janáček, commerce.

Benes' Reassurances.

Benes, in a radio address before the Cabinet was announced yesterday hinted that new negotiations on a broad scale might give a different turn to events of the last 10 days.

"Wait patiently," he said. "Our people have always been sensible and realistic.

"Our people understand that sometimes it is necessary to negotiate and sometimes to fight. If we must fight we shall do it to the last breath of life. But if the situation requires it, we shall negotiate."

Speaking with great emotion the President pledged with his people to have confidence and promised that the nation would not depart from its traditional policies of democracy and independence.

"Do not fear, for the security of the nation," he said. "Its roots are deep; our loyal Czech people shall not be destroyed. It shall survive all difficulties."

Leaflets attributed to the Communist party were distributed, appealing to all Czechoslovakians to be united and proclaiming: "The Soviet Union will help Czechoslovakia in all circumstances, whatever France may do. The Soviet Union and the Russian army are with us! Let us all wholeheartedly guard the republic!"

A truck carried a large placard with a likeness of Joseph Stalin. It brought loud cheers from the crowd.

On Kolowrat Hill soldiers still kept anti-aircraft guns pointed skyward from dugouts.

There appeared to be more soldiers and police on duty in Prague than at any time in recent weeks.

A radio announcement that Czechoslovakians in the United States were ready to give what they could brought a round of cheers.

The fact there was no violence despite the large demonstrations was cited by the Czechoslovaks as proof they could show the world how they felt but could still keep the peace.

HUNGARY CONSULTING YUGOSLAVIA ON POLICY

Question Whether Budapest Force Should Enter Czechoslovakia if Germans March.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 23.—Hungarians and Yugoslav diplomats were disclosed today to be negotiating over possible action if the German army should march into Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

A Yugoslav Foreign Office official said one of the main questions was whether Hungary should attempt to occupy Southern Czechoslovakia in the event of such a German advance.

The Hungarian Minister to Belgrade was said yesterday to have visited Milan Stoyadinovich, Yugoslav Premier, to get Yugoslav approval for Hungarian occupation of certain territories in Southern Czechoslovakia where more than 50 per cent of the population belongs to the 700,000 Hungarian minority.

The Yugoslav reaction to the proposal was not known.

Yugoslavia and Rumania are allied to Czechoslovakia in Little Entente agreements which include a defense pact against Hungary.

What Hungary Wants.

Though the Hungarian Government has formally demanded treatment for the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia equal to that of the Sudeten Germans, a competent source disclosed today that Hungary is campaigning for return of all Slovakia and Ruthenia.

(These two provinces of Czechoslovakia are inhabited by 3,607,438 persons. About 21.5 per cent of the 3,000,970 Slovakian population is Magyar, or Hungarian, and the percentage in Ruthenia's 606,568 is about 17.2. There were 691,923 Hungarians in Czechoslovakia when the 1930 census was taken.)

Nearly 500,000 persons attended the Budapest demonstration for territorial revision last night.

For 20 years no large revisionist party was tolerated by authorities for fear of foreign protests.

It was said that Slovaks would receive full autonomy such as was accorded the Croats under the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

Hungarians say that Ruthenians have isolated themselves from both Slovaks and Czechs. Their economic interests closely bind them to Hungary and their two large cities, Uman and Munkacs, are predominantly populated by Hungarians.

The principal Hungarian argument is that though Sudetenland's rivers, such as the Elbe, all flow into Germany, the Slovake rivers all flow into the Danube—this the Carpathian basin, including Ruthenia, is an economic unit.

WHOLE FAMILIES PERISH IN STORM IN RHODE ISLAND

10 Women at Church Social Lose Lives When Wave Engulfs Cottage at Misquamicut.

WESTERLY REPORTS ITS DEAD AT 74

Small Fishing Villages and Resort Towns Near Watch Hill Hard Hit by Hurricane.

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 23.—With Rhode Island's death toll from tidal wave and hurricane standing at 230, new stories of tragedy came today from Westerly, where the Red Cross and police reported 74 dead.

Gov. Robert E. Quinn, after touring the devastated area, appealed to President Roosevelt for aid. The State WPA immediately turned over 5000 workers to the State, to be used in rescue work. Gov. Quinn estimated the damage at $100,000,000.

Whole families lost their lives, relatives said in the hurricane, which the Coast Guard at Watch Hill reported reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour.

At Misquamicut 10 women attending a church social were killed when waves engulfed a cottage. Relief workers reported the narrow Charlestown Sandspit was wiped out. None of the 20 persons living along it had been found alive.

Cottage Swept Into Pond.

Miss Katherine Burchill of Westerly lost two children when waves tipped over her cottage and swept it into a pond. She clung for a time to the dress of her 4-month-old baby but the infant was swept to death.

Five bodies floated ashore today at Portsmouth, could not be identified immediately. Orswell Peckham and his mother were swept into the Sakonnet River and their bodies were washed ashore at Seapoint, two miles away. Four bodies were found in a crushed cottage at Seapoint.

The wind tore down the sea wall at Narragansett pier and scattered the fragments of bathing pavilions over the sands. The Rhode Island Yacht Club building was blown up Narragansett Bay and the home of the Bristol Yacht Club was destroyed.

First accurate accounts from Point Judith reported demolition of the Sand Hill Cove settlement and one reporter sent word that the Jerusalem and Galilee settlements, close to Great Salt Pond, were wiped out.

Watch Hill Hard Hit.

Watch Hill, situated on the shore near the Connecticut line, was hard hit but there were only fragmentary reports from that city. The outgoing tide disclosed many automobiles battered into piles of crumpled metal along the shore.

The original site of Watch Hill, on a bluff in the center of the present summer colony, was cut away to three-fourths of its former size. The waves battered down a concrete sea wall before eating into the bluff. Mrs. George G. Snowden of Philadelphia bought the site several years ago.

Roads leading into the ruined areas were littered with household goods and valuables, and National Guardsmen maintained patrols to prevent looting. Westerly, Providence and Woonsocket were placed under military control and a 5 p. m. curfew was fixed in the capital.

Small fishing villages and resort towns along a 12-mile strip of shore between Watch Hill and Charlestow Beach reported heavy loss of life. It was not until late last night that tales of death and destruction came out of the areas by radio.

Two tidal waves that swept over beaches crushed more than 400 cottages. Coast Guard officers reported 50 persons or more perished on the beaches in the vicinity of Point Judith.

The area was closed today except to those bearing military or police passes.

Naval Air Station Wrecked.

On Gould Island, in Narragansett Bay, a naval air station was reported demolished, along with two naval seaplanes quartered there.

George Gustavus, lighthouse keeper at Prudence Island, saw his wife and son killed. At Point Judith the Well Rock Light was swept away.

Coast Guard headquarters at Boston said advice from State police were that 61 died in Providence, but there were only nine known dead reported here from other sources. It was thought the larger number referred to the city and its environs. Providence has about 250,000 of the State's 657,000 population.

Twenty fishing vessels at Block Island were crushed. A fleet of fishing craft was dumped in a shattered mass on the beach at Jamestown, where waves engulfed the boat, killing nine persons.

Elm trees, young when the Revolutionary War was fought, were uprooted on the Brown University campus, and at Providence College a dormitory roof was torn off on a tennis court.

Many communities have not been heard from, and communication throughout the State is uncertain.

DEATH TOLL RISES IN HURRICANE ON EASTERN COAST

vessels and scores of dead marked the storm's path along Buzzards Bay and Cape Cod.

Federal, state and municipal governments moved quickly to aid sufferers.

Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins, now in Los Angeles, was in constant telephonic communication with his New England aids and said he might come here by plane today. His acting chief of engineers, Maj. B. M. Harles, came here from Washington to arrange a rehabilitation survey by air.

First Corps Army Headquarters at Boston sent blankets and coats by the truckload to Hartford and Springfield flood areas.

Hard put to find sleeping quarters for its homeless, Springfield found quick uses for 3000 National Guard cots and 1800 blankets and sent out a rush call for 4000 more cots and twice as many blankets. Seventeen cases of milk were sent to Springfield for babies.

Other agencies dispatched antityphoid serum to Providence as a precautionary measure.

Although disrupted communications held back the full story of New Hampshire's damage, amateur radio operators in Keene told of a crippled city, with streets under water, gas mains broken, electric lines down and telephone communication paralysed. South Keene was reported completely flooded and Keene proper partly inundated as a result of the bursting of dams on the Ashuelot river yesterday. The operators said casualties were "not extensive."

The Red Cross authorized a national appeal for relief funds. The agency estimated 12,000 families were in distress.

State rehabilitation programs were delayed by inability to determine the full extent of the damage and suffering.

Whole fishing villages were swept away on Martha's Vineyard Island, off the elbow of Cape Cod. Reports long delayed by the island's isolation told of a dozen houses and the town wharf reduced to matchwood at Chilmark, on the southern side of the island.

Reports to Coast Guard headquarters at Boston told of Arthur A. Small, light keeper at Palmer's Island in New Bedford Harbor, who, from his lighthouse tower, saw his wife swept to sea in the debris of their nearby home.

At Prudence Island, in Narragansett Bay, the top of the light tower was blown down. Coast Guardsmen and the wife and son of the light keeper, George T. Gustavus, died when the tower fell.

Thirty fishermen lost their vessels, and their livelihoods, at Block Island, Rhode Island, and at Jamestown, R. I., the fishing fleet was wiped out.

Police Patrol Long Island Towns to Prevent Looting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—State and local police patrolled stricken Long Island towns to prevent looting today, as the death list of Wednesday's hurricane mounted to 48 and rescue workers searched through debris for additional victims. About 40 persons were still missing.

While most of the damage centered on the 12-mile stretch of Long Island, notably in the shore resort sections, cleanup squads had a heavy task in the Bronx and Westchester.

Train service on the New York Central, the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the Long Island railroads was far from normal on some divisions. On the New Haven road, service was reported at a standstill east of New Haven. Passengers had to be conveyed by bus via Westerly, R. I., to reach Boston. Service was also halted east and north of Hartford, Conn.

Service on the New York Central, north of Goldens Bridge on the Harlem division, to Chatham, N. Y., and north of Carmel on the Putnam division, was halted.

Washout on South Shore.

On the South Shore division of the Long Island Railroad, service was "washed out" between Amagansett and Montauk. On the north shore, trains from Port Jefferson were reaching New York with some delay.

The Postoffice Department was forced to resort to chartered airplanes, trucks and steamships to get mail through to New England.

Service on the Boston & Maine Railroad between Albany and Boston was reported completely halted.

Storm damage totaled millions.

Insurance companies estimated the loss to insured property in the New York City area at $50,000,000.

Wednesday's wind and waves flattened fisherman's cottages and wealthy New Yorker's summer homes. Seven hundred yachts and small boats were wrecked in one bay alone.

The Red Cross, Coast Guard and other agencies joined in the work of relief. Enough roads were open for transportation of food and other needed supplies.

Phone Service Crippled.

Communications still were crippled with 15,000 telephones out of commission. Power lines were not yet restored in all sections.

In upstate sections, lowland residents evacuated their homes. Waterfront stores were flooded in Albany and Troy. Electric service was crippled in some sections and many highways had been blocked or washed out. Arthur W. Brandt, highway commissioner, estimated 18 bridges had been torn away.

The Hudson River, swollen by four days of rain, was within three feet of the record 1918 peak, but the crest of the flood was expected to pass Albany today. The Susquehanna River in Southern New York was near flood stage, and the Chenango was just above flood level.

Carrier Pigeons to Be Used to Carry Word of Damage.

By the Associated Press.

HOLDEN, Mass., Sept. 23.—Carrier pigeons were called on today to establish communication with isolated flood areas near Barre and Brookfield, Mass. State troopers V. H. Hanson and D. G. Sullivan left Holden barracks with 20 birds. They planned to send the pigeons back with word of the town's plight.

Returning from a preliminary survey, Hanson said Barre, south Barre and Barre Plains had only enough food for another day. All homes in Barre Plains were evacuated, he said.

1500 Men Piling Sandbags on Dike at Hartford, Conn.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 23.—More than 1500 hip-booted men piled sandbags today on a half-mile dike along the Connecticut River in an effort to save a tenement district in the southeastern section of the city, where more than 5000 persons live.

The original force of 500 WPA and CCC workers was more than tripled as the river, creeping toward the high mark of the 1936 flood, reached a height of 34.4 feet at 7 a. m., more than double the 16-foot minimum flood stage.

Latest prediction from the Weather Bureau's meteorologist was that the stream would reach a final crest of 35.2 feet about 8 p. m. and hold there for three hours before starting to recede. Light rain fell in Hartford and most of Connecticut during the night but the Weather Bureau said it would not increase the flood danger.

An estimated 1400 homes were being cared for here by relief agencies and officials said if the dike could not be saved the inundated area which these refugees evacuated would be increased by one-third.

The dike along the threatened stretch was designed to hold back the river at 31 feet, and sandbags laid overnight raised the safety level 2 1/2 feet above that.

When the dike level was raised to 39 to 34 feet, the river rose 33 and still rising. Five hundred men piled sandbags until it was seen they were losing, and then the force was doubled.

One of the biggest stakes in the fight between man and water was the electric plant. So far, the plant's new sandbag barricades have held.

Playmates noticed his foot sticking out of the water and their cries attracted Brown, a refinery employee.

Mr. L. Cross said the hurricane and floods constituted the greatest catastrophe in Connecticut's history.

FURTHER RED CROSS AID IN STORM AREA

It is Estimated 12,000 Families
Are in Distress After Hurricane.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The American Red Cross, revising its figures upward, estimated today that 12,000 New England and New York families were in acute distress.

Headquarters here directed additional assistance efforts by field workers in areas hit by floods which followed the hurricane.

Evacuation of residents at Hartford, Conn., has been doubled in speed, and 7000 persons now have been moved from the city. It was said Hartford could expect the rest of the flood this afternoon.

While Government agencies began the rehabilitation task in the devastated areas, the Works Progress Administration announced it had 100,000 employees on emergency work.

The WPA crews, now on 24-hour basis, concentrated on clearing public highways leading to and isolated communities.

The Coast Guard said it had 15 steaming ships, three seaplanes, three mobile radio stations and about 100 small boats in the area.

Norman H. Davis, national Red Cross chairman, authorized local chapters over the country to accept contributions for the storm work.
President Roosevelt directed Government agencies yesterday to provide all possible assistance.

Floyd Drysdale of Swansea Crushed to Death; James Southers Suffers Head Injuries.

One miner was killed and another severely injured in a cave-in today in the Perry Coal Co.'s St. Elens mine, west of O'Fallon, Ill. They were operating a mechanical loader when part of the tunnel roof fell.

Floyd Drysdale, 30 years old, of Swansea, was crushed to death and James Southers, 40, of O'Fallon, suffered injuries to his skull and legs. Southers was taken to St.
Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

Rhode Island Desolation Described by Eyewitness

Town of Westerly in Chaos After It Is Hit by Tidal Wave—Yachts in Main Street of Watch Hill.

By WILLIAM A. CAWLEY,
Reporter, Westerly (R. I.) Sun.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 23.—I reached the outside world today, after witnessing the scenes of horror and desolation that came in the hours after a tidal wave, hurled miles inland by a hurricane, engulfed Westerly, R. I., my home town, two days ago.

I counted bodies, row on row of them, stretched out in the old town high school after all the city's morgues were filled. When I left at 4 o'clock this morning, there were 74 dead and almost 100 missing.

At Misquamicut Beach, where people from all New England went to spend their summers, all that was left of a colony of almost 500 homes, stores and markets were the skeletons of five cottages. Only five left from 500.

At fashionable Watch Hill, palatial yachts were strewn helter-skelter along Main street. There, too, at least 25 cottages on Ford road, most exclusive street of that exclusive colony, were thrown into Narragansett Bay.

Millets in Dark Streets.

National guardmen tramped the darkened streets of Westerly's business district, called out when fear of looting spread. The city was in turmoil as police, Red Cross and volunteers sought to restore order from the chaos, handicapped by flood water four feet deep and paralyzed services. For two days they were unable to send out pleas for help.

I saw summer playgrounds of rich and working man alike turned into a shambles, and heard the cries of friends and neighbors struggling on the rooftops of homes swept out to sea. Some I later counted among the rows of dead. Others I never expect to see alive again.

There were heroes among those gone.

Alvin Mawson, one of my closest friends, dashed into the turbulent waters to reach his wife, trapped in their home on the ocean front. Mawson's body was found yesterday. His wife is still missing.

Two Dashed from Raft.

My prayer was among others that went up from a band of shore for Ralph Silver as he held precariously to a flimsy raft with one hand and clutched his eight-month-old baby with the other. I heard his cry of anguish as his mother and sister were dashed from the same flimsy raft as he was helpless to save them. He and the baby were saved.

Among those endangered when the waves engulfed Watch Hill was Geoffrey L. Moore, Westerly manufacturer. In bed with a heart attack when the wave struck, Moore, his wife and four children and four servants clung to the roof of the house for four hours before rescuers picked them up in the bay. Such scenes were only a few of those hours of terror.

Darkness fell as the storm was abating. With other volunteers I searched by flashlight through the ruins. frantic men and women joined in the rush to view each newly found body, searching for missing loved ones and fearful of what they might find.

Sleepless men and women were just beginning to get abreast of the rescue work in Westerly itself when I left. On the beaches near the sea it will be days before there can be any rest.

claim in Probate Court today for $100,000 against Mrs. Jessie L. Potts of Miami Beach alleging that her late husband, William G. Potts, agreed to pay him that amount for professional services.

The alleged contract, signed at Chicago Feb. 18, 1936, provided that if Potts died within six months, however, Dr. Smith was to receive only $50,000. Securities valued at $100,000 were placed in escrow with the City National Bank of Chicago.

Potts died here Sept. 3, 1937, leaving a personal estate of $800,000.

BOSTON RAIL SERVICE IS STILL DISRUPTED

Every Plane Available Put Into Use to Carry Passengers to New York.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Railroad service from Boston to points North and West today remained disrupted, as a result of Wednesday's devastating hurricane, but officers of the lines said they anticipated a return to normal within two or three days.

Meanwhile, airlines operating out of this city pressed into service every ship available to handle the demands for service to New York. Several independent flyers augmented regular men on the established services.

A New England telephone executive said today that efforts to restore service to the thousands of customers were being rushed, but that it might be several days before many got their lines opened.

He said thousands of trees and poles had ripped down some circuits, while others went out when cables suspended under bridges snapped.

Telegraph and telephone service was crippled in virtually every section hit by the hurricane. The trees and poles must be removed before full service can be restored.

Many Northern New England sections and parts of Rhode Island still were out of direct telephone communication with Boston.

The Edison Light Co., in advertisements in Boston newspapers, said that about 50 per cent of its service, which was cut off by the storm, had been restored, chiefly in hospitals and other institutions. Within another day or two, the statement said, full service would be restored in homes now without lights or electric power.

After a 38-hour trip, the first bus from Montreal, since the hurricane hit, came into Boston last night with 25 passengers. They reported badly torn roads in Northern New England.

Planes and Ships Break Records in Carrying Passengers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Aviation and steamship lines broke all records yesterday and today for passenger transportation between New York and New England.

With highways and railroads disrupted, the Eastern Steamship Lines booked some 800 passengers on one ship yesterday for Boston and air lines carried an estimated 2500 passengers by midnight.

American Air Lines lifted its franchise between Boston and New York, inviting other lines to share in relieving the crush. Planes were shuttling constantly between New England and New York and Newark, N. J., making upward of 100 flights.

To guard against emergencies, 156 pounds of typhoid serum were flown to Boston and 100 pounds to Providence. Twenty-eight hundred pounds of yeast were flown to Boston.

U.S. RUMANIAN TERRITORIAL DISPUTE

Boris in Berlin Said to Be Seeking Return of Dobruja Tract.

Associated Press
BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Reports circulated today that King Boris of Bulgaria, now in Berlin, was looking for a readjustment of the Bulgarian border along the Black Sea, where Romania now holds the 1,000-square-mile Dobruja district which once was Bulgarian. Boris came to Berlin yesterday after a visit with his father, former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and a week in England.

His visit coincided with talk of frontier revisions and the impending cession to Germany of rich lands in Czechoslovakia. Nad minds, sure of Czechoslovakia, have been occupied with the problem of making Romania, with her oil and wheat supplies, the next to ripen for a change.

Dobruja, a fertile wheat-growing district bounded on the north and west by the Danube, on the east by the Black Sea and on the south by Bulgaria, is regarded by Bulgarians as unredeemed territory. It became a part of Bulgaria in 1918, was transformed to Romania by the treaty of Berlin on July 21, 1918, restored to Bulgaria under the treaty of Bucharest May 1, 1919, but reassigned to Romania Nov. 27, 1919, by the Treaty of Neuilly.

Russia Warns
Attack Czechs

Pravda said the Polish-Hungarian game doubtless was to stand aside and let Germany take what it wants of Czechoslovakia, then refuse to join an international guarantee of the republic's borders unless they were granted territory where their minorities live.

It was pointed out by diplomats that in any Polish invasion of Czechoslovakia, the nation considered to be the aggressor would have a common frontier with the Soviet Union instead of being separated by neutral territory as would be the case if Moscow tried to help Prague against a German attack.

However, it was the opinion of some military observers that the Red army was not in a position to wage a large-scale war on foreign soil because of transport difficulties which might arise in Poland. Others regarded the Red army as fully capable of a tremendous drive across Poland.

Polish "Free Corps" Recruiting Office Opened.

Associated Press
WARSAW, Sept. 23.—Recruiting offices for a Polish "Free Corps"—similar to the Sudeten-German "free corps"—were opened here today by the Union of Silesian Insurgents who demand that Poland annex the Polish-inhabited Teschen region of Czechoslovakia. Other recruiting offices were opened in the Polish Teschen area. Just across the border from Czechoslovakia. Numerous Polish refugees from Czechoslovakia have gone there.

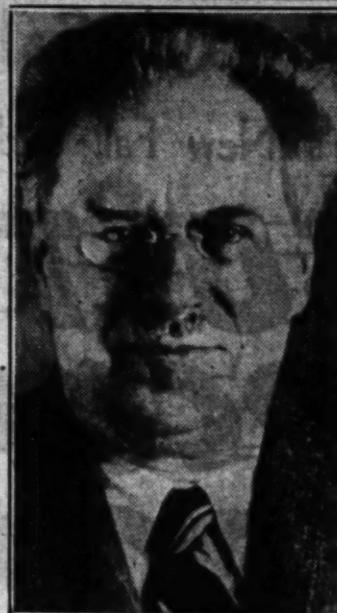

Gazeta Polska, organ of the Government party, suggested that the Silesian area of Czechoslovakia be annexed to Poland.

As additional Polish troops moved into Teschen, center of the disputed Silesian district, Plaski Square and streets leading into it were jammed with a crowd estimated at from 150,000 to 200,000.

Various organizations affiliated with the unity movement were present under order, but thousands congregated without instructions.

Tens of thousands joined in a parade which took two hours to pass a single point, and marched to the residence of Marshal Edward Smigley-Rydz, Inspector-General of the army.

"Down with the Czechs!" the throng shouted, "we want Polish Silesia back!"

In response to this clamor, the Marshal spoke from a balcony.

"The patriotism and sentiment and national dignity reflected in your words are moving all Polish hearts, and complete realization is of such tremendous importance that it cannot be neglected," he said.

A dispatch from Teschen said the Polish population had been asked by messages over loud speakers in the market place to meet today to welcome Polish troops returning from maneuvers.

Border Traffic Restricted.

An official announcement said the Government had decided to restrict border traffic in seven districts adjoining Czechoslovakia.

Reports said 150 army trucks went to the town of Teschen in the Southeastern Silesian district which is split by the Czechoslovak-Polish frontier. Poles on the Czechoslovak side of Teschen attacked two Czechoslovak police posts.

Poland has presented to Great Britain, France and Czechoslovakia a demand for cession to Poland of the land inhabited by Poles. Its present border was fixed July 28, 1920, under an agreement engineered by the conference of Ambassadors at Paris after Czechoslovak troops had occupied a part of the district in January, 1919, when Poland was fighting Soviet Russia.

Federated State Suggested.

The Foreign Office organ, Gazeta Polska, suggested today that the Silesian area of Czechoslovakia be joined to Poland. The Polish people, Gazeta Polska said, have a great friendship for Slovakia and always resented that the territory was treated like a colony by the Czechs.

AIR RAID SIRENS IN PARIS SET OFF BY SHORT CIRCUIT

Thousands of Office Workers in Bourse District Rush to Cellars or Roofs.

Associated Press

PARIS, Sept. 23.—A short circuit set off air raid sirens in the crowded Bourse district of Paris today. Thousands of office workers rushed to cellars or rooftops to scan the sky.

Coming at a time when the public had learned of the hitch in the Chamberlain-Hitler talks at Godesberg, the sirens created enough excitement to tip up traffic seriously. The sirens sounded for five minutes.

LEGION DEMANDS U. S. DEPORT CIO LEADER BRIDGES

Convention at Closing Session, Urges All Aliens With Felony Convictions Be Sent Back.

10,000 DELEGATES
SEE NAVY AIR SHOW

399 Fighting Planes Go Through Maneuvers — Auxiliary Elects Mrs. James Morris.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—The deportation of all aliens who have been convicted of a felony was urged and the immediate trial and deportation of Harry Bridges, Committee for Industrial Organization labor leader, was demanded in resolutions adopted by the American Legion at its annual convention here yesterday.

Adopting an all-embracing program designed to keep "America for Americans," the convention adjourned yesterday after electing Stephen J. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., national commander, by acclamation.

Adequate national defense; stricter immigration laws; continuation of the child welfare program; and a re-affirmation of the Legion's policy of seeking a universal draft law in time of war which would draft money, labor and man power were voted.

The Legion reaffirmed its stand on the care of war disabled and again sought legislation for veterans' preference in Federal employment.

Navy Air Show.

The United States fleet shows its air power to the legionnaires remaining in Los Angeles today.

Ten thousand legionnaires, the largest visiting group ever aboard the fleet at one time for a review, were guests of Admiral Claude C. Bloch, fleet commander-in-chief, to witness 399 fighting airplanes, with 102 officers and men aboard, go through their sky defense and attack maneuvers.

Nine battleships, which during the week had been engaged in target practice off the Southern California coast, were ordered to move into port in time to be abreast the reviewing ships by that hour.

A squadron of nine destroyers was the battle force escort, screening the way in, and then moving out to continue the way to San Diego.

The legionnaires were aboard the two official reviewing ships, fleet flagship cruiser Houston, and relief flagship battleship Pennsylvania, as well as 13 other heavy cruisers and auxiliaries.

Admiral King ordered the 399 planes to pass over the reviewing ships at 2 o'clock.

The Admiral's command squadron of 19 fighters was the leading unit, followed by the 48 giant patrol cruisers, then 74 planes of the aircraft carrier Ranger group, 74 from the carrier Lexington group, 84 from the carrier Saratoga group, 64 from the heavy cruisers' scouting wing, and 34 from the observation wing of the battleships.

Five Vice-Commanders.

Five vice-commanders, elected without opposition, were Edward Quinn of Portland, Me.; Charles Crush, Christiansburg, Va.; Earl T. Ross, Las Vegas, Nev.; James T. Crawley, Kosciusko, Miss., and Henry C. Oakey, Osceola, Wis.

The Rev. Jerome L. Fritzsche, Episcopalian of Kearney, Neb., was elected national chaplain.

Commander Chadwick called a meeting of the National Executive Committee and it renamed Frank E. Samuels, national adjutant; Ralph B. Gregg, judge advocate, and John Ruddick, treasurer. All are from Indianapolis. Thomas Ownes of Washington, D. C., was named historian.

Auxiliary Election.

Mrs. James Morris of Bismarck, N. D., was unanimously elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The auxiliary's five vice-presidents, chosen in sectional caucuses, included Mrs. T. K. Rinaker, Carrollton, Ill.

Missouri's auxiliary won the Cheney trophy offered for a department of 8000 or more obtaining the greatest membership increase 30 days before the national convention.

FARLEY ASSAILED G. O. P.'S CHARGES OF DICTATORSHIP

He Tells Ohio Democrats Republicans Tried to Confuse Voters in Primaries.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 23.—Democratic Chairman James A. Farley said last night that Republicans sought to confuse and intimidate the voters in the congressional campaign "with a lot of drivel to the effect that the President wants . . . to make himself a dictator."

"The false issue of dictatorship is 'dragged out' by Republican spokesmen," said Farley, before the Ohio Democratic State convention, "simply and solely because they wish to dodge their plain responsibility of telling the people what policies they propose to advocate."

Gov. Martin L. Davey, defeated in the primary election, was absent, and he ordered all State employees to boycott the convention.

Secretary of State William J. Kennedy demanded that Gov. Davey "unshackle the State employees and give back to thousands of fine men and women the God-given right of vote."

MISSOURI PACIFIC
SEEKS $100,000
FROM EX-AGENT

Charges Gordon R. West Personally Profited by Royalty Interests in Leasing Its Property.

A charge that Gordon R. West, former reclamation engineer for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, personally profited by obtaining royalty interests in railroad properties, which he leased for the railroad to oil and gas companies, was made yesterday in United States District Court, in an application for authority to file suit to recover the profits.

The application, which was approved by Judge George H. Moore, charged that West, in leasing the property for the railroad, obtained from the development companies "over-riding" royalty interests for himself in the name of four corporations which he owns or controls.

The application was made by Russell L. Dearmont, attorney for the trustees of the railroad, who told Judge Moore that West's personal profits in the deals would amount to more than $100,000.

Right-of-Way Property.

West, who resides in Houston, Tex., was in charge of the leasing of right-of-way and other railroad property for oil, gas and mineral development. He had been an employee of the railroad for 12 years before he resigned last June. He formerly had an office in St. Louis, and was principally in charge of Thought to Be Amnesia Victim.

She Is Taken to City Hospital.

A young woman said to be suffering from amnesia was taken to City Hospital early today after patrolmen had found her wandering in the vicinity of Grand Boulevard and Hebert street. She was unable to remember her name.

Attendants at the hospital said a handkerchief with the name, Katherine, embroidered on it, was found in her purse. She is about 26 years old, weighs about 125 pounds and has dark brown hair. She was wearing a gray coat and skirt.

SPEAKS FOR 3¢ GASOLINE TAX

WPA Administrator Murray Says Increase Is Needed.
By the Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 23.—State WPA Administrator Matthew A. Murray urged adoption of the citizens' road association's 10-year highway plan proposition No. 6 on the November ballot, before the meeting of the Missouri County Judges Association here yesterday.

Murray, a member of the committee which drafted the plan, said a 3-cent gas tax was necessary if road building in the State is to be continued on its present basis.

FOUR KILLED IN TRUCK CRASH

Flames Follow Collision With Gasoline Tank Transport in Nebraska.
By the Associated Press

RED CLOUD, Neb., Sept. 23.—Four persons were killed today in the flaming collision of a gasoline transport and a fruit truck on a narrow bridge near here.

The dead: Delbert A. Bowers, 29 years old, Barada; Ronald A. Percival, 19, Barada; Frank Hare, 45, Superior, and Lester Elliott, 32, Culbertson.

In the leasing of oil and gas producing properties it is customary for the owner to receive in addition to the consideration on the lease, a one-eighth royalty of the earnings from the property. The "over-riding" interest which West obtained from the lessees was to be a one-sixteenth royalty on the entire earnings, to be paid by the developing companies, Dearmont said.

Personal Co-operations.

It was stated that the interests were taken in the name of the Pioneer Co., the Mission Mineral Co. and the Meridian Development Co., Texas corporations, and the Western Holding Co., a Delaware corporation, which he wholly owns or controls.

In the leasing of oil and gas producing properties it is customary for the owner to receive in addition to the consideration on the lease, a one-eighth royalty of the earnings from the property. The "over-riding" interest which West obtained from the lessees was to be a one-sixteenth royalty on the entire earnings, to be paid by the developing companies, Dearmont said.

3 WEEKS OF SPEECHMAKING, CONFERENCES BEFORE STARK

Governor Going to Oklahoma and to Various Cities in Missouri—
Two Visits to St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 23.—Gov. Stark has arranged a schedule of engagements which will keep him away from his office here during the greater part of the next three weeks.

Sunday afternoon he will dedicate a new dormitory building at the State School for the Deaf at Fulton, which has been named the Lloyd C. Stark Building.

He will go direct from Fulton to Oklahoma City, Okla., to attend the annual conference of Governors on Sept. 26, 27 and 28. On the 28th he will address the conference on "Federal-State Relationships." On his return from Oklahoma City he will dedicate a new athletic field in Louisiana, his home town, on the night of Sept. 30. The following Monday, Oct. 1, he will be in St. Louis as a guest of honor at the Governor's night program of the St. Louis Horse Show Association. He will remain in St. Louis on Oct. 4 to welcome a delegation of business men from Louisiana, headed by Gov. Richard W. Leche, on a good-will tour.

On Oct. 5 he will address the annual convention of the Missouri State Bankers' Association at Louisiana, then will go to Hollister to dedicate a new highway bridge on the afternoon of Oct. 7, and that evening will address the Knife and Fork Club in Joplin.

The Governor will go to St. Louis Oct. 10 to attend a monument dedication in Babler Memorial Park and the following day will participate in a conference in St. Louis with the Governors of Louisiana, Arkansas, Iowa and Minnesota, and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, concerning a proposed Mississippi River Parkway development.

20-YEAR TERM FOR KILLING MAN AT TRANSIENT CAMP

John Helmann, 70, Pleads Guilty to Second-Degree Murder Charge

at Troy, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TROY, Mo., Sept. 23.—John Helmann, 70 years old, a former St. Louisan, was sentenced to 20 years in the State penitentiary by Circuit Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk today when he pleaded guilty of second-degree murder in the killing of another former St. Louisan, John W. George, in a quarrel at a Federal transient camp near here June 18.

State Highway patrolmen said Helmann and George had been quarreling for several days.

Helmann returned to the camp June 18 after drinking, they said, and started another quarrel with George. In the quarrel Helmann shot George in the head.

Helmann had no permanent address in St. Louis. George, a carpenter, formerly lived at 7005 Mitchell avenue.

Woman Accidentally Shot.

Mrs. Loretta Greenhill was accidentally shot in the chest yesterday when she slammed a kitchen door in her home, 3609 McCasland avenue, East St. Louis, and dislodged a 22-caliber rifle hanging on a rack near the door. The rifle fell to the floor and was discharged.

A physician who treated her described her wound as not serious.

J. R. MCNALE, EX-FIREMAN, TO BE BURIED TOMORROW

Surrounded to Disease Brought on by Injury While on Duty 20 Years Ago.

Funeral services for John Robert McHale, former member of the St. Louis Fire Department, who died yesterday of intestinal cancer caused by injuries suffered in fighting a fire 20 years ago, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at St. Edward's Catholic Church, Clara and Maffitt avenues. Burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. McHale, 53 years old, died at Dr. Tieron's hospital in Pine Lawn. He was injured in 1919 when struck by a stream of water at a fire, returned to service for a short time, then was forced to retire in 1924. At that time he was a member of Engine Co. No. 6, Ninth and Maffitt streets.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Frank Killoren and Miss Helen McHale, and two brothers, James P. McHale of Dallas and Peter J. McHale. Another brother, the late William Henry McHale, was sports editor of the Post-Dispatch in the 1890s.

186-MILE-AN-HOUR GUSTS DURING STORM

Harvard Observatory Records Terrific Speeds in Wednesday's Hurricane.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Wind gusts of approximately 173 and 186 miles an hour were recorded at the Harvard meteorological observatory on top of nearby Blue Hill during the height of Wednesday's hurricanes, Director Charles P. Brooks announced today.

Wind velocity of 111 miles an hour was recorded on the summit in three five-minute periods at 6:05, 6:20 and 7:12 p. m., the velocities were the highest in the observatory's 53-year history.

The wind reached 60 miles an hour shortly after 4 p. m. and remained continuously above that velocity from 4:35 to 7:35 p. m.

From 5 to 6 p. m., the velocity averaged 83 miles an hour. In little more than half an hour the wind blew at the rate of 94 miles an hour.

Dr. Brooks attributed the difference between the observatory's 111-mile-an-hour maximum for a five-minute period and the Boston Weather Bureau's 88 miles an hour for a five-minute period was "due apparently to the hill's so obstructing the free flow of wind that it had to blow over the top at higher rate."

The observatory's most sensitive recorder, a French windmill anemometer, began to disintegrate when registering a five-minute velocity at 80 miles. It broke under a 100-mile gust.

Storm Set Record for Swiftness of Movement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Weather Bureau experts said yesterday that the full force of Wednesday's disastrous hurricane just missed New York City with its millions. Had the storm proper hit the city, the loss of life and property would undoubtedly have been much greater.

"At one time the storm center was headed directly for New York City," said Charles L. Mitchell, Washington forecaster. "Then it moved to the east."

The storm broke all records for rapidity of movement and continued intensity," said Mitchell. It moved from Mississippi, N. C., to the northeast in about 12 hours.

"That's 600 miles at a clip of about 50 miles an hour," Mitchell said. He said 50 miles an hour was a speedy advance, even for a tornado.

"When you realize that this storm covered hundreds of thousands of square miles, you get some idea of this movement," he said.

ISSUE OF WIDENING DICKMANN CO. HEARING IS ARGUED

Counsel for State Asks Court to Be Allowed to Go Into Deals Other Than Lowell Bank Sales.

ACTION TO RECOVER PROFITS AND FEES

Attorney Says Taking of Limit Off Questioning Would Let in "Flood of Light."

The question of admissibility of material evidence to show the intent of the Joseph F. Dickmann real estate Co. in its purchase and profitable resale of eight properties of the closed Lowell Bank was presented to Circuit Judge Charles B.
Williams today by counsel for State
Finance Commissioner R. Waldo Holt in Holt's $5450 suit against the Dickmann company.

Judge Williams took the question under advisement after hearing both sides, and indicated he would give a prompt decision.

His counsel for the Dickmann company said he would like to have a few days to prepare a brief, the court said he would prefer to have a brief this afternoon if possible.

Att. A. Thompson, counsel for the Dickmann firm, argued for admissibility of testimony sought by Thompson, told Judge Williams that, if he were permitted to ask questions about the Dickmann company's handling of real estate sales of other closed banks, a "flood of light" would be thrown on the matters in the pending Lowell Bank case.

Argument for Concerns.

M. Murry Edwards, attorney for the Dickmann firm, argued that a line of testimony sought by Thompson was irrelevant and inadmissible under court decisions as of bearing on any issue in Holt's suit.

Holt's suit is to recover a $4500 loss profit which the Dickmann company realized in buying and widely reselling the eight properties through Mrs. Cecilia Ross as new party, plus $950 received from the bank in the transaction. Holt stated the $950 was paid to the company as its commission in acting as agent for the bank. Mrs.
Ross is a sister of the Dickmann firm's office manager, Alois O.
Kummer.

He wanted, Thompson continued, to show the intent of the Dickmann firm to mislead Oscar H. Wibbing, Special Deputy Finance Commissioner liquidating the Lowell Bank, in representing that Mrs. Ross was a bona fide purchaser of the eight Lowell properties. Wibbing is the liquidator also of the Kirkwood
Trust Co. and the Grant State Bank.

Thompson said it was his purpose to show that eight properties of the closed Kirkwood Trust Co. were sold by the Dickmann company, ostensibly as agent for the bank, to Charles Oheim, a paper salesman, in a transaction similar to the one under consideration. He said he also wanted to inquire into a transaction in which the Dick-mann company sold a piece of real estate of the closed Grand State Bank in a transaction which Oheim was the intermediate purchaser.

Thompson cited court decisions in support of his argument that, if an agent purchases real estate from his principal without the principal's knowledge, that action constitutes a breach of trust amounting to fraud.

At one point in his argument

Thompson said the testimony should be admitted to show a concerted plan, or scheme to defraud, by the Dickmann company. The petition, which alleges breach of trust but not fraud, is to recover the $5450 for depositors of the Lowell Bank.

By asserting that the Dickmann company's purchase of the Lowell properties was made with full knowledge of Wibbing, Thompson went on, the company itself injected the question of intent,

Wounded Policeman Confronts His Foe

JAMES O'MALLY (LEFT) AND WILLIAM RIGHTON (RIGHT).
POINTING to the bullet hole in his uniform, the wounded patrolman meets one of the men he engaged in a pistol battle in the attempted holdup of a Chicago handbook shop.

making it necessary for Holt to introduce evidence on the intent of a straw party.

The testimony of Stemmle and of Otto J. Dickmann, vice-president and active head of the Dickmann company, that Wibbing knew Mrs.
Ross was a straw party was an admission that Wibbing was in contradiction of Wibbing's testimony on that point.

Their testimony was given in the deposition hearing, which has been adjourned until Monday pending Judge Williams' decision on admissibility of the evidence Thompson seeks to introduce.

Commissioner's Action.

Edwards argued on behalf of the Dickmann firm that the evidence in question concerned transactions which occurred a year or more before the firm's purchase of the Lowell properties last June and had nothing to do with the pending case.
He pointed out that Judge
Williams' special commissioner, William H. Allen, had excluded the testimony at the deposition hearing.

Holt's petition, he said, made the issue simple, the crux of the case being a question of fact as to whether Wibbing had known the Dickmann firm was buying the Lowell properties for itself.

NEW PANEL IN SECOND PERJURY TRIAL OF CRABB

Selection of Jury to Hear Charge Growing Out of Killing of Defendant's Bride Starts Today.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, Ill., Sept. 23.—A new panel for the perjury trial of James W. Crabb was drawn today and selection of the jury was set to begin this afternoon.

The charge grew out of the fatal shooting of the 22-year-old bank clerk's bride March 1. Crabb's first trial on a manslaughter charge ended in a disagreement of the jury.

The regular panel and a special one, totaling 60 names, were disqualified last week when Circuit Judge Henry J. Ingram ruled they were illegally drawn. The ruling was based on the fact W. J. Reardon, the County Judge who was present as his official capacity required, was a member of the defense staff.

At yesterday's session of court,
Special Prosecutor John E. Cassidy charged 200 certified names were not included in a list from which a special venire was drawn. His motion to quash the special panel of 60 names was overruled, but the Court ordered a new drawing because 18 of the regular veniremen had been excused.

The perjury charge was based on what prosecutors said were conflicting accounts by Crabb of the death of his 19-year-old wife.

WORTHLESS CHECK TAKEN UP AND CHARGE IS DISMISSED

Bart Boas Jr. Had Been Accused of Issuing It Without Sufficient Funds in Bank.

A worthless check charge against Bart Boas Jr., 24 years old, of the St. Regis Apartments, 4954 Lindell boulevard, was dismissed yesterday by Justice of the Peace Adam C.
Mahaffy Jr., Wellston, after Boas' attorney had taken up the check and paid $7 court costs.

Clarke Morse, golf professional at Normandie Golf Club, obtained the warrant charging Boas with issuing a check for $69.35 for golf equipment knowing he had insufficient funds in the bank to meet it. Neither Boas nor Morse appeared in court.

Another worthless check case, based on a warrant issued by Assistant Circuit Attorney Herman D.
Olan, is pending in Circuit Court.
The warrant was issued on complaint of R. L. Proctor, credit manager of the General Tire Co., 3400
Washington boulevard.

TWO KILLED, FOUR SHOT IN CHICAGO HANDBOOK HOLDUP

Robber Fatally Wounds Part Owner of Place Police up Man Is Felled.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Two men were killed and four persons were wounded late yesterday when three men, trapped in a handbook during a holdup, tried to shoot their way past policemen. Lucille Summerfield, 18 years old, a dancing leader, was caught in a crossfire of bullets when being used as a shield by one of the robbers and was seriously wounded in the breast.

The gunmen carried pistols and a sawed-off shotgun when they entered the handbook late yesterday.
The betting establishment was a small on-story brick garage in an alley on North Halsted street, a few doors from a police station.

John Basilia, 33, part owner of the handbook, was killed as he sat in the cashier's cage. One of the robbers poked the shotgun into the cage and fired when Basilia refused to turn over the money.

and disarmed.

The complaint of a newsboy that the cash box at his stand at Skinker and Delmar boulevards was be-day resulted in the arrest yesterday of a Negro janitor, who ada period of about four weeks.

After receiving the complaint of the newsboy, Elmer Shipley, 17 years old, Patrolman Fred Brandhorst made identifying scratches on several coins. About an hour later he saw a Negro remove something from the box and walk away. The Negro admitted taking the coins and he found two of the scratches in the Negro's pocket.

THREE TAVERN KEEPERS CITED
ON WHISKEY PRESENCE CHARGES

Another Accused of Having Slot Machine—Hearing on License Revocation Oct. 8.

Excise Commissioner Lawrence
McDaniel issued citations today against operators of three taverns on charges of keeping whisky in places having 5 per cent beer licenses and another on a charge of having a slot machine on the premises.

Inspector Edward Doering reported that on inspection trips yesterday he found a pint of whisky in a tavern operated by Angelo Costanzo at 2008 North Twenty-second street, and a quart of whisky in a place operated by Walter Gardocki at 1830 Cass avenue. The third such citation was on a report by police that a glass of whisky was found in the tavern of Hugh Hiett, 2129 South Seventh street.

Patrolmen reported they found a slot machine yesterday in the tavern of John Hostetter, 4209 Lindell
a. m. today for Lisbon.

GRAND JURY TO CHECK VOTE IN 14TH PRECINCT, 12TH WARDNo True Bills Returned After Investigation as to Sixth

The grand jury will make an inquiry into the conduct of the Aug.
2 primary election in the fourteenth precinct of the Twelfth Ward when it reconvenes Tuesday afternoon. It was announced today by Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller.

The jury, after investigating yesterday the election in the sixth precinct, Twelfth Ward, decided not to return any true bills. Miller said the discrepancies shown in the election returns in this precinct were found to have been due to a clerical error rather than fraud.

At the time the Election Board reported discrepancies in 12 precincts in the primary, it explained the errors might be due to clerical mistakes or inefficiency. The Circuit Attorney's office indicated that only three instances would be presented to the grand jury.

By James M. Gould
With both St. Louis major-league baseball teams far out of the flag-waving and local interest in those games at the lowest ebb in years, college football tonight "takes over" in a psychologically auspicious time.

To the St. Louis University Billikens goes the honor of ushering in the 1938 season when, with play starting at 8:15 o'clock, they meet the strong Bradley Tech team from Peoria, Ill., at Walsh Memorial Stadium on Oakland avenue. The game marks the Billikens' fiftieth football season.

Ordinarily, Coach Muellerelle of the Billikens wouldn't be much worried over the outcome of his first contest. But, his first game opponents this year are of a tough brand than usual and injuries to some veterans and doubt as to the ability of some newcomers to the squad make for a deal of uncertainty in the St. Louis ranks.

Bradley is tough enough, in a football way, to provide real competition for any college team in any class in an opening game. They are almost perennial champions of the "Little 19 Conference" or what was "Little 19" before some of the smaller schools withdrew. In the last two years, Bradley has been undefeated in Conference play.

Lost Two Games Last Year.

Last season—and most of last year's eleven is back this year—Technicians lost only two games, both by a single touchdown.

They were defeated by Washington University and by the University of Iowa. And, the victors in each case, were "all out" to win.

And, according to reports, the two are stronger than a year ago. However, Coach Robertson has had injury-worries and is not able to be present his strongest lineup.

There is a chance that the Billikens have a greater number of losses than Bradley and this may run the tide in a close contest.

While the first-string Bradley men in it's going to be a real game, stars of Bradley are Theats at center, Panish, the Bradley passer and Molnar, a really fine plunger fullback.

St. Louis will be able to show a new starting lineup with only sophomore, Carlson, a guard, so far as weight goes, there is little to choose between the teams.

Games submitted by coaches indicate that the Bradley line will average 183 pounds to 192.3 for the Billikens but, that, in the backfield, Louis will have a nine-pound average, 181 to 172.

Team officials say the Bradley weight-averages are 188.2 for the seniors and 185.5 for Bradley.

Veith to Direct Play.

John Veith, out of the game this season because of illness, will lead the Billikens from the quarterback position. At the start, he will have as backfield colleagues such as Denny Cochran and Mel Gossling at the haves and Harry Harris at fullback. Young, sophomore fullback star is sure to see plenty of service.

Changes in the Billiken line may be frequent. Frank Gossling, a regular end, will not be in play but Bill Cochran will take the position capably.

Frank Gayer on the other hand, Len Gorman, not in the best shape, will start at center with Red Drabille in reserve.

Muellerelle will be especially interested in the performance of his guards and tackles in his heaviest losses by

They'll Be in Action Tonight

Ted Panish (left) star halfback and forward passer of the Bradley Tech eleven and Denny Cochran, captain and left halfback of the St. Louis U. team. The two stars will be in the opening lineup of their respective teams in tonight's game at Walsh Memorial Stadium.

CONZELMAN PICKS:

MINNESOTA Given Edge Over Washington—Wichita Not Equal to Task of Whipping Army—Navy Over William and Mary—Alabama, Iowa Should Win on Coast.

By Jimmy Conzelman

Head Football Coach Washington University.

Football leaps into a full stride with such games as Iowa-U. C. L. A. and the Minnesota-U. of Washington battles scheduled for this week-end. There is a growing tendency among major elevens to meet stronger early season opponents and in some cases the familiar "breather" game has lost its place entirely.

Locally, Coach Muellerelle of the Billikens' men take on a rugged opponent in Bradley, a fighting team from Peoria, a. Fighting team from Peoria. Washington's Bears will be pitted against Vanderbilt, a team that many Southern grid fans believe will end up in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

There are no new rules to bother one. The only two changes that were made will scarcely be noticed by the spectator. The ball is brought out 15 yards from the side-line instead of 10; the offensive team may throw as many incompletely passed over the goal line as the spirit prompts without losing the ball on a touchback. Last year the second incompletely pass over the goal line gave the ball to the defense on its 20-yard line.

The results? They should be something like this:

EAST.

Army-Wichita: Wichita is rugged but not enough.

Brown-Connecticut State: Brown-Dartmouth-Bates: A romp for Dartmouth.

Dartmouth-Duke-Wesleyan: Easy Duke.

Holy Cross-Providence: H. C. Navy-William and Mary: Anchors Aweigh.

Pitt-West-Virginia: Pitt, and Pitt pick them in every game this year.

Temple-Albright: Temple-West.

WEST.

Alabama-Southern California: Close with a nod towards "Bam."

U. C. L. A.-Iowa: Iowa should bring a close victory to the tall corn.

California-St. Mary's: The Bears of California.

MIDWEST.

Denver-Iowa State: A point or two to Denver.

Purdue-Detroit: Bully for you—Purdue.

Drake-Central Teachers: A breeze for Drake.

Illinois-Ohio University: Illinois-Kansas-Texas: Texas, but Kansas has improved.

Minnesota-University of Washington: A dog fight with a finger stinger.

SOUTH.

Arkansas-Oklahoma A. and M.: The Razorback passes will win.

Baylor-Southwestern: Easy for Baylor.

72 SCORE LEADS $13,500 OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Andy Lapola of Flushing Park, N. J., opened fire in the $13,500 Westchester 108-hole open golf tournament today by touring the soggy Fenway Golf Club course in 72, two over par.

Although the New Jersey pro was one of the first to finish, his score looked as if it might be good enough to retain the lead for the rest of the day. Only 100 of the tournament's 270 entries were playing their first 18-hole round today, and all of the stars, including Ralph Guidahl, Sam Spald, Paul Runyan, Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen, had to begin play tomorrow.

The match, played on a damp court and in a gusty wind, was one of the most peculiar on record, first one player and then the other going to pieces. Miss Marble led 6-1 in the first set, but lost it. Mrs. Fabrey was ahead, 5-2, in the second set and had two match points, but blew up. She led again, 3-1, in the deciding set, but couldn't hold it. Neither played good tennis, except in rare streaks.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Gene Mako of Los Angeles pulled one of the prize upsets of tennis history here this afternoon when he defeated Jack Bromwich of Australia, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4, in the semifinals of the national championships before 15,000 wildly cheering fans.

Rated only a top doubles player, prior to this tournament, the big blond charged the net consistently to break up the Australian's game. Bromwich, something below his best form after the week's postponement due to rain, never looked like winning except at the outset of the second set, when he took a 4-1 lead.

Mako's victory meant that he probably would meet his famous doubles partner, Donald Budge, for the championship tomorrow.

Budge was favored to defeat Sidney Wood Jr. in the second of today's two semi-finals.

Prior to the men's match, Alice Marble had qualified to play Nancye Wynne in the women's finals by defeating Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabrey, 5-7, 7-5, 7-5.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Alice Marble of Los Angeles reached the final of the national women's tennis championships here today by defeating Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabrey of Jamaica Plains, Mass., 5-7, 7-5, 7-5, in a hard-fought match before 15,000 spectators. She will play Nancye Wynne of Australia tomorrow for the title.

BEAUMONT TENNIS TEAM SETS NEW MARK IN LEAGUE PLAY

SQUAD HAS WON 41 MATCHES IN ROW IN EVENT

Winning Streak Started in 1936—Ben Blewett Is Defeated by Score of 4 to 0.

By Davison Obear
The Beaumont High tennis team defeated Ben Blewett, 4 to 0, in the St. Louis Public High School tennis championship on the Jefferson Memorial courts yesterday afternoon. In winning the match Beaumont ran its string of consecutive victories to 41, which is believed to be a new record in the League competition which dates back to 1914.

According to the best available information Roosevelt High held the previous record of 40 straight victories. Coach Lorenz's team won its last 12 matches in 1933, captured all 24 matches in 1934 and entered the 1935 tournament with a 4 to 0 victory over Cleveland to bring its total to 40 consecutive triumphs.

Since the first tournament in 1914 it is quite likely that Soldan has won more team championships than any other school. League officials are searching past records with the hope of completing the list of team winners during the past 24 years.

Soldan and Cleveland joined Beaumont in whitewashing their opponents yesterday. Coach Flagg's Soldan team won from Central, 4 to 0, while Cleveland, coached by Roland Neuman, won all four contests from Southwest. McKinley and Roosevelt battled to a 2 to 2 tie.

In this afternoon's matches Central meets Roosevelt, Southwest plays Soldan, Beaumont opposes Cleveland and McKinley battles Ben Blewett. After today the teams will be idle until Monday except Soldan and Blewett, who play their two incomplete matches tomorrow morning. Results yesterday:

Beaumont, 4, Blewett, 0. Roosevelt, Beaumont, defeated McGourney, Blewett, 4-0. Soldan, 4, Beaumont, defeated Wolf, Blewett, 6-1, 6-0; McGourney, Beaumont, defeated Broadhead, Blewett, 6-1.

Just Before the Finish

Lee Wykoff about ready to finish off his wrestling match with Wally Dusek at the Coliseum last night. Wykoff has a stepover toe hold on his opponent which the Omaha was unable to break and lost in 12 minutes 45 seconds.

WYKOFF TOO ROUGH, DUSEK QUILTS MATCH

By Robert Morrison

Nothing cheaply theatrical about Lee Wykoff, but he puts enough Texas stuff into his rasslin to make it interesting for the customers who appreciate virile performances.

He forced Wally Dusek to quit in a match at the Coliseum last night with an apparently vicious stepover toe hold.

Wally was no favorite. None of the Duseks ever is. And so the crowd of 2000 taunted him and laughed happily when Wykoff rolled him out of the ring.

Dusek stumbled around, then climbed back into the enclosure, then Wykoff punched him silly, then threw him out on the floor again. Wally fell on his elbow and rubbed it ruefully. But he returned to action.

He put a wristlock on Wykoff, who immediately got out of it by clamping his hand on his scissars. Then Wykoff got an arm grapevine on Dusek's legs and followed it with the toe hold. Jumping up and down he twisted and pushed Dusek's leg until the Omaha had boy had enough. Time, 12:45.

George "Kayo" Koverly, sunbanned from a sojourn at home in Hollywood, was in the other flesh match. He knocked out Dick Lever in 19:19. This was a wrestling match also.

ACID-SPRAYING CHARGES AGAINST 4

Union Agent One of Those Accused in Informations of Damaging Autos.

Informations issued by the Prosecuting Attorney's office yesterday charged Lloyd Gilmore, a business agent for the Gasoline Service Station & Warehouse Employees' Union, and three other men with malicious destruction of property by spraying acid on trucks and automobiles.

Named with Gilmore are Benjamin Villmer, 2233 Indiana avenue; Everett Aldridge, 1918 LaSalle street, and William Huber, 2607 Lafayette avenue.

Villmer and Huber are members of the service station union, which has been conducting a strike at certain fire stores and filling stations, seeking a wage agreement.

Huber, Villmer and Aldridge were quoted by police after their arrest earlier this month as admitting they had damaged trucks with acid. There are five charges against Villmer and Aldridge, four against Gilmore and one against Huber.

NEW YORK MILK DELIVERY

Large Tank Trucks Placed Into Service and Plentiful Supply Is Assured.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Metropolitan milk companies rushed 3000-gallon tank trucks into emergency service today. Railroad washouts had stalled deliveries from upstate dairy centers.

Trucks were rerouted away from storm-blocked highways.

The Borden company and Shefield Farms, two of the major distributors in the metropolitan area, said some local deliveries were delayed, but that a plentiful supply of milk was assured.

Three milk-producing areas were hard hit by the hurricane—Vermont, Delaware County in upstate New York, and Dutchess and Columbia counties in the southern part of the State.

Two Killed in Kansas Crash.

By the Associated Press

COLUMBIA, Kan., Sept. 23.—Two persons were killed and a third seriously injured in a head-on collision of two trucks east of here last night. The dead: Frank Fleming, 36 years old, and Miss Roberta Riley, 27, his wife's sister.

Named with Gilmore are Benjamin Villmer, 2233 Indiana avenue; Everett Aldridge, 1918 LaSalle street, and William Huber, 2607 Lafayette avenue.

SEVEN MEN BURIED UNDER HUGE SLIDE AT FORT PECK DAM

Body of Another Worker Found Soon After Sudden Failure of Section of East Abutment.

EXECUTIVES IN AUTO SAVED BY CHAUFFEUR

Car Quickly Backed Over Widening Holes and Cracks—Main Part of Project Apparently Safe.

By Canadian Press

FORT PECK, Mont., Sept. 24.—The bodies of seven of eight workers entombed when a third-of-a-mile of the upstream face of Fort Peck Dam gave way were hidden under millions of tons of soft dirt and stone today.

The body of Albert V. Stoeber, 23 years old, Park Grove, Mont., was found late yesterday soon after a huge section of the dam's east abutment gave way.

Hours of search on the loose slide slope, 2000 feet long and 200 feet high, convinced searchers none of the missing would be found alive. The entire dam is nearly three miles long.

The missing, all residents of Montana, were Nelson P. Stone, 31, and Douglas J. Moore, 35, Fort Peck; Archie R. Mohr, 26, Hinsdale; J. L. Johnson, 26, and Oliver Butcher, Park Grove, and Dolphie Paulson, 41, and Walter Lubbing, 29, New Deal.

The slide was so sudden that several executives who were inspecting the abutment section from an automobile were saved only by the quick thinking of a chauffeur, who backed the car full speed over rapidly widening holes and cracks in the abutment itself.

Maj. Clark Kittrell, United States Army engineer in charge of construction of the Missouri River dam, largest earth-fill dam in the world, said a preliminary survey did not indicate any reason for alarm regarding the security of the main dam. He said the water level of the lake, now 90 feet deep, was 15 feet below the damaged abutment.

Maj. Kittrell said construction was not halted on the dam, started four years ago and now nearing completion. It was designed to provide flood control, irrigation and improved navigation on the Missouri between Sioux City, Iowa, and the mouth near St. Louis.

The sliding earth covered two dredges and a pump boat used for pumping silt into the core fill in which the missing men were working. Engineers said the silt formed a solid core through the center of the dam between the upstream and downstream abutments.

Several small craft were beached by the large wave that rolled across the lake in the wake of the earth slide.

The project employs 4000 men.

NO 'WRONGDOING' FOUND IN GOV. CHANDLER 'POISONING'

Kentucky Grand Jury Finds It "Entirely Probable" Illness Was Caused by Water.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 23.—The Jefferson County grand jury closed its investigation today into reports that Gov. A. B. Chandler was poisoned during a recent political campaign with the statement it found no evidence of "any wrongdoing."

The report said no witness "intimated in any way that any person whatsoever had deliberately or intentionally placed any poison in the water in the pitcher" from which the Governor, J. Dan Talbot, State Finance Commissioner; B. C. Lee, Erlanger, and State Police Lieut. Jess Wyatt drank during a radio cast last July in a Louisville hotel.

"We have reached the conclusion that it is entirely probable that the four persons were made ill by the water," the report stated. "The proof shows without contradiction that there are two or three drugs that could produce the symptoms all four of the sick persons had. One of these drugs is known to have been commonly used in cleansing fluids in the average household and could easily have gotten into the pitcher or one or more of the glasses in a perfectly innocent way."

U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY REOPENS

2312 Midshipmen Assemble; Classes Begin Monday.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 23.—The United States Naval Academy began its academic year today with the assembling of 2312 midshipmen for drills. Classes will begin on Monday. The first major event was to be the ceremonial presentation of the members of the plebe or freshman class to the other members of the regiment.

There are now 586 members of the first class; 450 members of the second class; 493 members of the third, or sophomore, class, and 753 members of the plebe class.

Round-the-World Ketch Wrecked.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Dwight Long of Seattle told over the radio Wednesday night the story of his 25,000-mile trip around the world in his ketch Idle Hour without a mishap. As he talked, the Idle Hour was being battered to pieces on a Long Island beach.

AUDITORIUM CONCESSION CO. RECEIVERSHIP AGAIN SOUGHT

Stockholders Charge President Is Operating Company for Own Benefit.

Suit for appointment of a receiver for the Auditorium Concession Co., Inc., which operates concessions in the Municipal Auditorium, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Clarence L. Pinot and H. Ruth Pinot, stockholders and officers of the corporation.

They allege that the president, Sam Taubensson, has been in sole control of the concern since last Nov. 18 and operates the business for his own benefit.

Recently Circuit Judge William S. Conner refused to appoint a receiver for the company at the request of the Pinots. Their new petition was set for hearing Sept. 28.

KILLED IN OIL CAR EXPLOSION
F. P. Blount, M-K-T. Divisional Superintendent, Succumb.

RISING STAR, Tex., Sept. 23.—F. P. Blount, superintendent of the South Texas division of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, died today of injuries suffered in the explosion of a tank car of gasoline.

The man was shot to death by Police Officer Pat Dixon when trying to start a taxicab after tear gas had driven him from the bank building.

Police said a package the bandit carried contained 12 sticks of dynamite and a battery. More dynamite was found in his clothing.

Early this morning the man had abducted Richard Bradway, 32, a taxicab driver, and held him captive until just before the robbery attempt.

Officer H. A. Stephens and Detective Blanchard Bolander later captured three men west of town after firing at them four times. The men were in a car containing a rifle and a small caliber shotgun. The three denied any knowledge of the attempted robbery and said they did not know the dead man.

FADE OF WILDLIFE AMENDMENT UP TO SUPREME COURT

Argument in Test Suit to Determine Whether People Took Conservation Out of Politics.

Favored as Candidate

THOMAS F. MCDONALD

THOMAS F. M'DONALD
URGED FOR COURT RACE

G. O. P. State Subcommittee Favors Him as Candidate for Supreme Bench.

Thomas F. McDonald, former president of the St. Louis Bar Association, said today he would accept the Republican candidacy for the long term in the Missouri Supreme Court if the Republican State Committee approved the recommendation, to be made in Kansas City next Wednesday, by a special subcommittee.

His choice for recommendation to take the place of the late Supreme Court Judge William F. Frank on the Republican ticket in the November election, made here yesterday by the subcommittee, is regarded as tantamount to approval of the State Committee.

If named by the State Committee, McDonald will make the race against State Senator Albert M. Clark of Richmond, who won the Democratic nomination in the primary, with backing of the Pendergast organization.

McDonald attracted attention by his efforts to purge the St. Louis Bar of unethical members, an accomplishment which he has credited to those who served with him on the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association. He is a member of the law firm of Donnell & McDonald, and resides at 135 South Gore avenue, Webster Groves.

He revived efforts to raise standards of the legal profession by disciplinary action against unethical members when he became chairman of the Grievance Committee in 1932, a post he held three years. In the spring of 1935 he was elected president of the St. Louis Bar Association which received the St. Louis award for outstanding service to the community.

McDonald was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1917, just after he had enlisted in the first officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn. Two years ago the university conferred on him the honorary degree of master of laws.

After his training at Fort Snelling he was commissioned a captain of field artillery and later was promoted to the rank of Major, serving in that capacity until the end of the World War.

He is secretary of the State Board of Law Examiners and is a director from Missouri of the American Judicature Society. Last year the University of Michigan selected him as the representative of the legal profession at the university's centennial celebration.

McKittrick's Attack.

McKittrick devoted much of his argument to an attack on the Supreme Court's decision in the Bode case in which the court held that the Conservation Director Bode, a resident of Iowa, could be employed by the commission notwithstanding another section of the Constitution which held that only residents of Missouri could be appointed to office in Missouri. By this decision the court held that the Conservation amendment, being of later date than the other provision, superseded it.

McKittrick held that if the Bode amendment constituted a correct interpretation of the amendment a form of government had been created in Missouri in that, he said, it established a republican form of government guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

He made the further points that the amendment was more in the language of a statute than of a constitutional provision, and urged it be declared void for that reason and that legally it gave the commission no more power than the Fish and Game Commission, an office which was abolished by the amendment.

What Decision Means.

With the contention of Haynes Johnson that the people had power through constitutional amendment to do anything with government that they desired and that the language of the amendment unquestionably gave the commission full power to make rules and regulations it deemed necessary to conserve wildlife.

The case was heard before all of the seven judges of the court.

RUSSIA REPORTED
SPEEDING WORK ON DEFENSE LINE

Diplomats at Washington Get Word That Soviets Now Realize They Must Rely Only on Selves.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Reports reaching Washington indicate that Soviet Russia, convinced Adolf Hitler has obtained a free hand in Eastern Europe, is forging a protective armor for the Ukraine.

On the basis of meager information diplomats here believe the Russians have speeded up construction of a line of steel from the Black to the White Sea. Behind this line the Red army would await any invasion.

Hitler's domination of Czechoslovakia, if completed, would put the German invader or army within a hundred miles of the Ukraine. The latter is one of the richest geographical areas in the world, the possession of whose minerals and grains—Hitler's words in 1936—would enable Germany to "swim in wealth."

The Ukraine now supplies the Soviet with about 80 per cent of its coal, 60 per cent of its iron, 95 per cent of its manganese, the bulk of its wheat, and vast quantities of mercury, copper and gold.

It is Russia's granary, a country of limitless steppes, almost as large as Germany was before annexation of Austria. It has a population of about 30,000,000.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Dr. Maranon's Disappointment

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
COMMITMENT was made by a correspondent on an article by Dr. Gregorio Maranon concerning the conflict in Spain. Probably every believer in democracy states Dr. Maranon's disappointment at the failure of Spain's first popular government to achieve its aspirations.

A former supporter of republican Spain, he states, his preference now for Franco is a choice between two evils, Fascism and Communism—a choice undoubtedly arising from a severe shock to an untenable ideal. He obviously expected the perfection of democracy to blossom from ill-prepared soil.

The republican Government in Spain was certainly infected not only with alien Communism but with a native demagogery which found the people ripe for reprisals for past wrongs, real and fancied. It is upon the perpetrators of these wrongs that Dr. Maranon should place a large share of the blame for the Government's sins.

The political influence of the Communists and Socialists over republican Spain has been constantly waning, and a victory for the Loyalists would not necessarily mean a resumption of that influence. Should Germany and Italy work their will, however, every vestige of a framework on which to build democracy will be entirely destroyed. It is now a war between two "ideologies." Fascist and democratic, though the latter may show, by our standards, the imperfection of a new and unfamiliar concept.

Most significant of all is the indubitable and portentous fact that Franco's supporters, for the most part, are those who wish to exploit the Spanish people, and there is no promise whatsoever that these factions will ever live in harmony. To evade this destruction of their hopes for freedom is the aim of the Loyalists. After all, it is their duly elected Government they are fighting for and the only Government that holds any assurance for a self-determining policy. It is well to remember, too, that the abandonment of Spain to Fascism is another thrust at the security of democracies everywhere.

England and Us.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I hope the Englishman who wrote to you about America's attitude toward Mexico will think back a few months, he will remember that England did plenty of yelling about the deal she got in Mexico. He will also recall that when the English Ambassador asked Mexico for some money the President of Mexico told England to pay some of her own debts. If England paid us the war debts it would help us put our house in order.

AN AMERICAN.

Plea for Street Car Riders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A SHORT TIME ago street car men received a raise of 2 cents an hour and 78 men were pensioned at $40 a month. I believe in a living wage and, after careful inquiry, found that the average wage before the raise was about $120 per month.

One very important party was given no consideration in this transaction, that was the street car riding public, who make possible the salaries of Mr. Kiel and his associates. Of the people who ride street cars, 85 per cent do not average an income of $75 a month. I allude to the $44, $55 and $66 a month WPA workers, the part-time workers and those on relief.

The street car lines of St. Louis have been the plaything of juggling financiers and bankers. Finally, they had to be placed in receivership. Mr. Kiel, who was appointed trustee, went to Jefferson City, appeared before the Public Service Commission (no one appeared for the people) and was allowed to discard the 12-cent-for-a-dollar ticket and charge 10 cents straight or 50 cents for four tickets to curtail service, operate one-man cars and place express buses in service to charge 10 cents with no transfer. As a sop, we have the shopper's ticket, that does not benefit the underpaid worker.

Cannot the people be given some consideration? FAIR PLAY.

Would Keep U. S. Out of Europe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
FOR Czechoslovakia to cede all of her Sudeten areas would be to amputate many of her principal industries and resources, destroy her mountain defenses and subject hundreds of thousands of non-Nazis to the extremities of dictatorship, but it would not seem an insuperable task of diplomacy to select several peninsulas where Czech territory juts into Germany, in which could be concentrated the Sudeten foolish enough to want to live under Hitler. It would be the height of folly for Europe to plunge into a large-scale war to keep $300,000 deluded Sudeten within the Czech Republic.

Meanwhile, Americans should resolve that never again will they participate in European wars. If Europe cannot solve her problems of peace, shipping, munitions and war supplies to the belligerents would only make for more complete destruction. The United States will have to practice vigorous abstention from the practices which involved us in the last war. That means prompt and thorough application of the principles of neutrality (not neutral rights) upon the outbreak of war.

DALE R. JOHNSON.

OUR DEFENSE POLICY.

In the light of what has happened in Europe and Asia recently, the American Legion's demands, just made at the national convention in Los Angeles, for strengthening the national defenses are well worth considering. Some preparedness may be viewed as merely a form of peace insurance—something far different from the insane militarism that the Fascist nations have to bear on their shoulders in order that the saber-rattling leaders can carry on conquests. The Legion is within reasonable limits in urging that the United States have a navy second to none and a slightly larger army than at present.

As a matter of fact, the navy is doing very well now, being a close second to Great Britain. Besides having two battleships (the first since 1923), one aircraft carrier, four cruisers, 16 submarines and 41 destroyers under construction, it will let contracts before 1939 for four battleships, four cruisers, one aircraft carrier, and several auxiliary vessels. This program will put the United States nearly on a par with Great Britain, although Great Britain is in the midst of a big construction program that she launched in 1935 when Mussolini disputed her standing as mistress of the seas. In addition, a naval commission, under congressional authorization, returned this week from a survey to determine the best site in the Caribbean for a naval base. A lot of money is being spent on the navy, but it is the navy's job to insure the defeat of any aggressive expedition by cutting it off from its home base of supplies. On this theory, a large army is not necessary.

Our army numbers only 12,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men, but it has been equipping itself with new weapons and keeping abreast of the latest developments in warfare. The War Department, it is no secret, has prepared mobilization plans, after several years of study, that would provide for an army of 4,000,000 in case of war. Only recently, experimental orders have been given to various factories as a means of educating them for the task they would face in equipping a wartime army. Nevertheless, it may be conceded that the army is unusually small in comparison with those of lesser nations. The National Defense Act, passed in 1936, provided for an army of 280,000 enlisted men and 15,000 officers, but it was never built up to that limit because Congress did not appropriate sufficient funds. Such an increase would now be within reason, it seems.

It should be recalled that in 1912 we became entangled in a European war although we had an Embargo Act, and that in 1917 we again became entangled although we had re-elected President Wilson because he "kept us out of war." Both times we were weak in a military sense. We should continue to keep our navy and army ready for any foreign struggle.

EMBATTLED MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Determination to fight "even in the courts of last resort" against any charge of monopoly is voiced by the Journal of the American Medical Association. This is in connection with the recent action by Assistant Attorney-General Thurman Arnold against the efforts of individual and organized old-line physicians to wreck the Group Health Association of Washington.

The Journal speaks of the new policies adopted last week by the organization's House of Delegates, urging provision of more medical care for the poor, while continuing to oppose governmental or political control of medicine. The new program, it must be agreed, is an admirable step forward. But health co-operatives do not mean governmental or political control. They represent a conservative plan whereby members of the moderate-income group pay in advance for medical care, and, by retaining physicians on a contract basis, reduces the costs.

Organized medicine could quite consistently extend its new policy to approval of co-operatives. Technically speaking, the charge of monopoly may not be valid. But surely it is no savory spectacle to see doctors barred from hospitals and expelled from their professional society because of connection with a co-operative group. The monopoly charges would be swiftly dismissed on abandonment of these tactics, and no fight to the highest court would be needed.

A CASE THAT DEMANDS ACTION.

Roy Ray Blasingame, a 14-year-old newsboy of East St. Louis, died on Sept. 13 of acute pernicious caused by a kick administered by the driver of a news agency truck. The boy's offense, if there were any, was selling papers on a corner claimed by another vendor.

Although three other newsboys, all old enough to be competent witnesses, saw the truck driver's brutal assault upon young Blasingame, no arrest has been made in the case to date. The Coroner's jury found only that the boy came to his death by a blow from a person unknown. The Coroner originally entered the death as having resulted from natural causes. The attitude of the East St. Louis Police Department and of the staff of the State's Attorney for St. Clair County seems to be strangely lackadaisical. It is possible that the proprietor of the news agency in question has influential political connections?

An irascible stain will be written across the record unless the brutal assailant of this boy is brought to justice.

PEONAGE IN ARKANSAS.

The system of leasing convicts to work in coal mines had a few decades ago to what is probably the most inhuman chapter in American penal history. Convict leasing has been ended, we believe, as far as the mining industry is concerned, but it has recently been revealed to exist in relation to a privately owned prison farm in Arkansas.

Shockingly enough, the authorities, from Gov. Bailey down, have refused to do anything to put a stop to the practice, although it has been shown that the lash is wielded freely on the prisoners by whipping bosses not under the control of the State.

Back of this archaic practice is the iniquitous system of administering justice. Most of the prisoners, it appears, are youths taken off freight trains. They are arrested by Constables and sentenced by Justices of the Peace who get so much for each prisoner convicted. Obviously it means nothing to them whether those arrested are the veriest bums, or men using only the means of transportation available to go in search of jobs.

While orally condemning the fee system, Gov. Bailey declined to break up the racket by the ready device of pardoning the men as fast as they are sentenced. He should reconsider his decision. To tolerate a prison system which manifestly invites brutality and degradation ill accords with his pretensions as a progressive Governor.

THE PRESS REFUSES TO CRACK A SMILE.

A perusal of press comment on Mr. Connor's defeat on the Democratic ticket in New York, while winning the Republican nomination, reveals a lamentable lack of that leavening quality known as a sense of humor.

The essentially comical spectacle of an old-line Tammany Democrat suddenly emerging as a Hoover Republican is noted with pompous seriousness, and what all objective bystanders must necessarily consider an important Roosevelt victory is carefully minimized. After attributing the result to a freak of the primary system, and pointing out that the purge, after many defeats, finally worked, the New York Herald Tribune, concluded with dry sarcasm, "A famous victory, obviously."

Not as downhearted as others, the Philadelphia Inquirer recalls that the Senate purge failed 100 per cent and that the success of the purge in Mr. O'Connor's case, "must surely look like the barest scrapings from the purgatory pot." The Baltimore Sun says there is little for Mr. Roosevelt to crow about, and looks forward to Mr. O'Connor's possible return to Congress as a Republican. In a burst of unreason, it says his victory as a Republican, though he would have to forfeit the Rules Committee chairmanship, would make the Fay nomination merely a technical triumph for F. D. R. As everyone knows, it was Mr. O'Connor's actions in that chairmanship that brought down presidential wrath.

The Minneapolis Tribune stodily points out that Fay's victory was nothing much, since he won by only 533 votes; that O'Connor will have another chance at Fay in November and that if O'Connor's Republican votes were added to his Democratic votes, he polled more than Fay. That's whittling it down fine. Perhaps the most astonishing idea is that of the Chicago Daily News, namely, that maybe O'Connor will not lose his chairmanship after all, because there may be a Republican majority in the new House of Representatives. Here's a toast to the Daily News, the gayest optimist of them all.

Hardly a newspaper, except, of course, such ecstatic New Deal organs as the New York Post, could find a word of cheer for the President as he came to bat in the ninth inning with the score 9 to 0 against him and whacked the ball out of the park. Even the Browns' disheartened following at Sportsman's Park raised a faint ripple of applause when they avert a shutout.

THE EAST COAST HURRICANE.

September is the hurricane season in this hemisphere. Storms originating in tropic waters, usually around the West Indies, have taken a terrific toll in that month. Examples are the Galveston disaster of 1900, which cost 6000 lives, and the Florida hurricane of 1928, in which 2800 persons were killed.

It is seldom, however, that a tropical storm sweeps so far up the Atlantic seaboard, and with such devastating effect, as that which struck New York, New England and adjacent area Wednesday night. A hurricane was headed for the Florida coast Monday night, then veered out to sea. Early Wednesday came Weather Bureau warnings for the region from Charleston, S. C., to Atlantic City, but the storm skipped over to lash the more northerly area, and to inflict heavy loss of life, huge property damage and disastrous floods.

Manhattan, Brooklyn and nearby suburban regions were badly battered, but fortunately did not bear the full force of the hurricane. As it was, a slight shift in the storm center would have brought it down upon the crowded-area. By only a narrow margin did New York City escape catastrophe.

CHINA SENDS A SCHOLAR.

To replace Dr. C. T. Wang, who has resigned as Ambassador to this country, China is sending a man widely acclaimed as its most brilliant citizen. He is Dr. Hu Shih, American-educated philosopher, who has earned the name, "Father of the Chinese Renaissance." This is in honor of his work in raising the Chinese vernacular to the dignity of a written language, and thereby contributing vastly to the country's unification.

Long a determined pacifist, Dr. Hu stood for non-resistance during the years of foreign exploitation suffered by his country, and even through Japan's conquest of Manchuria. But Japanese tactics were at last too much for him. In a brilliant article, reprinted on this page in June, 1936, Dr. Hu stated that Japan was forcing China to fight back, and if war came, he would favor it. Since the beginning of China's gallant resistance last year, he has supported the Government by every means in his power.

The United States is honored by China's selection of this outstanding public figure and foremost scholar as its envoy to Washington.

And now they're proposing the busses carry the mail. What is left for locomotives to whistle about?

TOWARD AN ALL-SPANISH LOYALIST ARMY.

While Gen. Franco is still fighting his battles with the help of German, Italian and Moorish troops, the loyalists have adopted a policy, just announced by Premier Juan Negri, of withdrawing all foreign volunteers—a process that is expected to be completed by the first of the year. These volunteers, including Americans, British, French, Germans, Italians and Yugoslavs, have played a conspicuous and heroic part in the defense of Spain.

Because most of Spain's regular army joined Franco's insurrection in July, 1936, Republican Spain was left with only a small nucleus of trained officers and men. For the defense of Madrid, it had to depend for a long time on the foreigners and its own raw levies. In the two years that have elapsed, loyalist Spain has had time to perfect an army organization and will soon be able to present an all-Spanish front to the enemy.

No doubt the question of policy bulks large in the voluntary action of mustering out the foreign volunteers. It throws into higher light the tremendous penalties and was supplied to the belligerents.

They are arrested by Constables and sentenced by Justices of the Peace who get so much for each prisoner convicted. Obviously it means nothing to them whether those arrested are the veriest bums, or men using only the means of transportation available to go in search of jobs.

While orally condemning the fee system, Gov. Bailey declined to break up the racket by the ready device of pardoning the men as fast as they are sentenced. He should reconsider his decision. To tolerate a prison system which manifestly invites brutality and degradation ill accords with his pretensions as a progressive Governor.

"THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME."

"Gimme" Government

Omnipresent dole has a lineage running back to early days of Republic, Congressman says; difference is that formerly assistance was given only to business and industry, through tariff and other subsidies; counselors that patriotism necessary to stop the "gimme" trend now must, like original bounties, "start at the top and work down."

Representative Bruce Barton of New York in Collier's Weekly.

Uncle Sam had other resources. Men who dared to dream of steel rails spanning the continent, binding its oceans together, found encouragement to realize their dreams in the grant of public lands.

And the steel mills, which supplied the rails, the car makers and locomotive builders, and a thousand other industries, shared indirectly in this golden dole. The automobile arrived and, though it claims proudly that it has enjoyed no tariff and asked no Government aid, it has in fact shared a subsidy of billions spent in the creation of new roads.

So public help, via tariffs, patents, free lands, good roads, the promotion of foreign trade, huge expenditures for war, and many other forms, has been a constant factor in our national growth. Harry L. Hopkins was right in saying that the habit of taking from the public purse is "as American as corn on the cob." He is partly right, also, when he says that part of the protest against present Government expenditures is because they are going to the wrong people.

To give the money at the top and let it find its way down has been the national habit. But spreading it around at the bottom with the idea that some of it, through added purchasing power, will find its way to industry and investors at the top—this is revolutionary.

But there is another side to the picture. The Founding Fathers were thinking not in terms of what they could get but of what they could give to make life in these United States something nobler than the world had ever yet produced.

Their descendants who marched away to fight our wars were not thinking of profits or market. They were stirred by high ideals on both sides of the battle front, and gave their lives under the urge of supreme self-sacrifice. The places under which men enrolled in 1914-15 were not promises of material gain. They, like their forbears, went to battle for what they conceived to be the safety of the Republic and the ideal of democracy.

We are a great commercial people, but we are a great spiritual people as well. No historian with an unbiased judgment can possibly explain the progress of America from the profit angle alone. We have had faith as well as greed, and love of our country for what it is, not merely for what it gives.

At some periods the idealistic note in our national character is clear and strong, at others it is muted. In the fervor of sacrifice called forth by the World War we rose to heights of achievement beyond all precedent. Since the Armistice our ideals have been kicked about by booms and panics, by alternate spasms of greed and fear. The present political appeal is almost entirely to the appetite. "The rich have had their share in the past; now is the time for you to get in and get." This is in substance the current campaign oratory.

But the ideals, though temporarily eclipsed, are not dead. The challenge and the opportunity for leadership on the part of those who have received most and therefore have most to give. Patriotism, like the doles of old, should start at the top and work down.

Save America First

William Hirth, Publisher, in the Midwest Farmer.

In my opinion, Europe will have to work out its own salvation, and if its civilization becomes engulfed, we cannot help it. Did we not make certain defeat of the Central Powers in the World War, and did we not "make the world safe for democracy?"

I should also be remiss if I did not mention that the Sudeten Germans were pro-Konrad Hrenlein who was on the pay roll of the government, by nature most of whom were of Czech origin in Prague, where are a tiny minority, capital, more and more high schools than opera house, and a polytechnic.

There are no Germans in the Sudetenland, and the Czechoslovakian civil liberties grant Germans have been to commit high treason.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Today

YESTERDAY it looked as though Great Britain and France had merely sacrificed Czechoslovakia out of fear of Hitler and his armies, and for the sake of preserving their own populations from war.

Today the whole picture looks much more sinister. Mr. Chamberlain has refused to call Parliament. Not only the Czechs but also the British people are not going to be allowed to express themselves on this deal. Already a barrage of propaganda is emanating from certain circles, in which a clear attempt is being made to present the Czechs as aggressors. It is hinted by one correspondent, P. J. Phillips, that the Runciman report will show that the Czechs have been to blame.

But if the Sudeten Germans were able openly to organize on Czech soil a conspiracy and an armed force against the Czechoslovak Republic, how oppressed could they have been? The Sudeten Germans had their own publications; and an open German organization has been touring American correspondents around the Sudeten areas and telling them their correspondents the story of their wrongs with the full permission of the Czech Government.

The Sudeten Germans have had full proportional representation in the Czech Parliament, and up until a few months ago, two Ministers in the Czech Cabinet — who resigned to join Henlein.

The economic woes of the Sudeten areas are the economic woes of the industrial areas of Great Britain or of the industrial areas of the United States during a depression.

The last time I was in the Sudeten areas the troubles of the Sudeten Germans were presented to me by a Henleinist who was a bureaucrat on the pay roll of the Czech Government, by numerous officials, most of whom were on the pay roll of the Czech Government.

Even in Prague, where the Germans are a tiny minority, they have, per capita, more and better equipped high schools than the Czechs, an opera house, a theater, a university and a polytechnical institute.

There are no concessions which could have been made to the Sudeten Germans short of the destruction of Czechoslovakia, and the civil liberties granted the Sudeten Germans have been used by them to commit high treason on Czechoslovakia.

Let us not accept the theory that the "Sudeten Germans" are synonymous with Konrad Henlein's authoritarian party. Henlein's big vote in the last election was due to a coalition between his party, the German agrarians, and the German clericals. But they did not make a united front on the basis of annexation to Germany because that question was never raised by Mr. Henlein.

It must also be remembered that the British and French governments, who are actually trying to make their stand consistent with principles of self-determination, are handing over the Sudeten Germans, to Nazi Germany, and thereby making them an absolutely irrevocable decision. For once you become a plebiscite, he is not afraid of a plebiscite. He would control it.

In the last 36 hours we have had the spectacle of the British and French handing an ultimatum to the Czech Government. Asked: "Do you prefer death by dismemberment or death by the sword — answer Yes or No." President Benes and Premier Hodza asked permission to think a moment, and made the shocking proposal of asking to have the case referred to the Court of International Justice in The Hague, as provided under a never repudiated treaty of arbitration with Germany. For this they were sharply reprimanded by the British and French upholders of the League of Nations and international law. And as I write these lines word has come through that the Czechs have accepted. They would have fought Germany, but they cannot fight France, Germany and the British Empire in coahoots, with all the small nations intimidated.

Educator Dead

DR. L. D. COFFMAN DIES; MINNESOTA U. HEAD

Former President of Education Association; On Group That Made School Survey of Russia.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 23.—Dr. Lotus Delta Coffman, fifth president of the University of Minnesota, died last night at his home from heart disease. He was 63 years old.

Death came when he apparently was on the road to recovery from the illness that had kept him from his work for a year. He had gone to his study to lie down, when Mrs. Coffman went to call him for dinner he was dead.

Career of Dr. Coffman, Former Illinois Educator.

Lotus D. Coffman was born on a farm near Salem, Ind., graduated at the University of Indiana in 1906, and received a doctor's degree at Columbia University in 1911.

Before going to Columbia, he was director of teacher training at the Illinois State College at Charleston. He returned to Illinois State College as supervisor of its training school for two years, and held the chair of professor of education at the University of Illinois from 1912 to 1915. In the latter year he went to the University of Minnesota as dean of the college of education, holding that post six years until chosen president to succeed Dr. Marion L. Ewing.

Dr. Coffman wrote numerous books on educational theory and was a contributor on pedagogical subjects to learned journals.

In 1920 he was a member of a group of American educators who surveyed the school system of the Soviet Union and he was at various times president of the National Education Association, the National Association of Urban Universities, the National Association of State Universities, the National Association for the Study of Education, and the National Association of College Teachers of Education.

A graduate of the Military Academy at West Point, in the class of 1882, Gen. Spencer retired from the army in 1889. He returned to service twice—In 1898 during the Spanish-American War and in 1917, when the United States entered the World War. Marshal Petain decorated him with the French Legion of Honor Cross in 1919 and later he received the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States. He served in the World War as an engineer Colonel.

After a summer on the Rangeley Lakes in Maine, Mrs. Erie Bernays, 4 North Kingshighway, and her daughter, Miss Katharine, a debutante of last year, have returned to St. Louis. They occupied a cottage at a lodge near Rangeley for more than two months, and visited in New Hampshire, where Mrs. Bernays' sister, Miss Katharine Cavalli, joined them. During a stay in New York, Mrs. Bernays' former home, they attended the wedding of Miss Nancy Lee Warner and William Harvey Webster Jr., in Bronxville. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Giebel of Bronxville, a former St. Louisan.

Informal entertainments are being given for Miss Marjorie Maxwell of Memphis, Tenn., who is the guest of Miss Mary Frances Carter, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett T. Carter, 285 North Union boulevard. Miss Carter plans to visit her cousin later this fall.

Funeral services for Arnold Meyer, a past Missouri commander and National Quartermaster of the United Spanish War Veterans, will be tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at Jefferson Barracks.

Mr. Meyer, who was 85, died last Saturday at the Veterans Hospital at Portland, Ore., of a paralytic stroke suffered when at the annual encampment of Spanish War veterans as director of the St. Louis delegation. He was superintendent of buildings for the First National Bank.

During the Spanish-American war he served with the Fifth Missouri Volunteer Infantry, and subsequently was active in veterans' organizations. He is survived by his widow and two brothers.

THEODORE A. HAMMOND DIES; EX-OFFICER OF STOVE FIRM

Former Vice-President and Treasurer of Charter Oak Co.; 86 Years Old.

Theodore Austin Hammond, vice-president and treasurer of the Charter Oak Stove & Range Co., until his retirement five years ago, died at St. John's Hospital last night of the complications of age. He was 86 years old and resided at 5072 Calanne avenue.

Born in St. Louis, he was employed in the office of one concern for almost 60 years, starting when the stove company was called the Excelsior Manufacturing Co. He made his home with relatives by marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Houston and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Dobler. Mrs. Hammond died in 1915. A sister, Mrs. Jennie E. Ingerson of Clayton, survives. Mr. Hammond was a cousin of Louis La Beaume, president of the Art Museum Board of Control.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.

m. tomorrow at the Wagner undertaking establishment, 3821 Olive street, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

CUBA'S 'STRONG MAN' FAVORS DEMOCRACY

Col. Batista Declares Against Totalitarianism — With U. S. If There Is War.

WHAT effect European ideologies are having on Latin American nations has become a subject of increasing interest. Edmund Chester, executive director of the Latin-American department of the Associated Press, has returned to the United States after months of travel in Latin America. He talked to men in the palaces of government and to those in the streets. In the following article, he tells what the "strong man" says his nation will do in respect to totalitarianism.

By EDMUND CHESTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Col. Fulgencio Batista, strong man of Cuba and one of Latin America's most active leaders, told me he has placed his nation on the side of democracy in the "democracy against totalitarianism" fight now being waged in Europe.

It was the army leader's first public statement on international affairs and it was made during an exclusive, informal interview in Havana.

"I understand," said the former army sergeant, "that the peace of the world depends upon the action of four great powers in Europe—France, England, Germany and Italy. It is, it seems to me, a matter of democracy against totalitarianism. If these powers can lay arrogance and pride aside and keep their equilibrium, we may find peace. If they do not, we will have war and the American nations must be prepared for it."

No Place for Totalitarians.

Col. Batista said he considered Latin America unattractive for European political doctrines and that efforts to extend "European influence" in Latin America should be met with purely American democratic doctrines.

"In America," he said, "democracy is the most suitable political doctrine. It is a doctrine deeply rooted in the people and the only one that is in complete accord with American history and with the American spirit.

Totalitarianism cannot live in these countries. If it does enter our nation, it can only be of a transitory nature because it will create conditions much worse than the conditions it is supposed to correct. The cure is worse than the disease.

America and Europe.

"If American nations should, for some reason, allow themselves to become inspired by European political or cultural doctrines, not in accordance with American sentiments, they would be taking action against themselves in the long run. There may be circumstances under which certain European doctrines are desirable in America, and it may be necessary, in certain circumstances, to take actions that are not democratic in principle. But even in such extreme cases the action should not bring about a complete breakdown of democratic principles or of democratic governments."

Col. Batista said his army of 25,000 men would devote its efforts to bringing the nations of America closer together. "Our army is an army of war. It is an army of peace, dedicating itself to building schools and hospitals in Cuba. But if war cannot be avoided, Cuba will be on the side of the United States, whatever the course of that great nation."

WPA ENROLLMENT REACHES 3,102,062, A NEW PEAK

Sept. 10 Figures Show 16,300 Increase Over Total Working in Previous Week.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Works Progress enrollment reached 3,102,062 today, a new peak for the fourth consecutive week.

This figure, taken as of Sept. 10, compared with a previous program peak of slightly more than 3,000,000 in February, 1938. The present program crossed the 3,000,000 mark a month ago.

Enrollment on Sept. 10 showed an increase of 16,300 over the previous week. On Sept. 11, last year, enrollment stood at 1,455,830.

Administrator Harry L. Hopkins had said he did not expect WPA rolls to go beyond 3,100,000 on the current program.

While the new thousands were being added week by week, other records showed that 166,000 dropped off work relief rolls in July. WPA officials said many of them had found private employment and Aubrey Williams, acting administrator, commented that hardly more than half the new enrollees had ever been WPA clients previously.

Emil N. Firpo, packing house worker and professional wrestler, filed suit for $10,000 in City Court at East St. Louis yesterday, alleging that a spectator at a wrestling match last December assaulted him after he had been thrown out of the ring by an opponent.

Firpo said the defendant, William Crenshaw, 2806 Baugh avenue, East St. Louis, beat and kicked him in the face, causing a large cut on his cheek and resulting in his being held up to ridicule by other members of the wrestling program. The incident occurred, the petition stated, at a wrestling match at the St. Paul Social Center, Ninth Street and Summit avenue.

Firpo resides at 816 Baugh avenue. Crenshaw could not be reached.

BARKLEY TURNS G. O. P. ATTACK BACK ON G. O. P.

Democrat Says Republicans Voted for New Deal Laws Their Party Now Assails.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Senator Barkley of Kentucky, majority leader in the Senate, said yesterday that millions of citizens would get a "big laugh" out of a recent Republican pamphlet criticizing the Roosevelt administration.

He said the pamphlet, issued by the Republican National Committee, cited 37 New Deal laws as having interfered "with the economic functions and private management of American business." This will bewilder "many prominent and ambitious Republican statesmen" who voted for some of the laws, Barkley asserted.

In a formal statement, Barkley continued:

"What, for example, will Senator Vandenberg, who is casting longing looks in the direction of the White House, have to say when he discovers that the Commodity Exchange Act, the Sugar Quota Act, the Emergency Banking Act, the Farm Bankruptcy bill, the Railroad Labor Act and the Securities and Exchange Act, for all of which he voted, are on the purge list of the Republican national and congressional committees?"

"Imagine the surprise of Senator McNamara of Oregon, Republican leader, when he finds he has been outwitted by his own organization for voting for the Commodity Exchange Act, the AAA, the National Labor Relations Board, the Farm Bankruptcy Act, Railroad Labor Act, Securities and Exchange Act and NRA."

"There will be a lot of others in the same boat. Are the Republican national and congressional committees reading these eminent gentlemen out of the party and classifying them as 'New Dealers'?" Or has the Republican G. H. Q. simply blazed away with a shotgun full of miscellaneous slugs, without taking aim and hoping to hit something, somehow?"

Barkley said denunciation of the banking laws and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Act can have no other meaning than that the Republican high command would have the country go back to the Hoover days when in four years there were 6364 bank suspensions involving deposits of over four billion dollars."

"How," he asked, "would the 8,000,000 depositors who lost money in those failures and the 98 per cent of depositors whose accounts are now insured against loss like to return to those happy Republican times?"

"Totalitarianism cannot live in these countries. If it does enter our nation, it can only be of a transitory nature because it will create conditions much worse than the conditions it is supposed to correct. The cure is worse than the disease."

America and Europe.

5224-ACRE AMERICAN RANCH EXPROPRIATED BY MEXICO

Property of Late Lewis Lamm Taken Over Last February; Seizure Just Announced.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 23.—A presidential resolution of Feb. 2, expropriating 5224 acres of the great ranch of the late Lewis Lamm, who was one of the wealthiest Americans in Mexico, was published yesterday. He died Jan. 25 last. He came from Pittsburgh 40 years ago as an architect and amassed a fortune in building and in Mexico City developments.

The seizure involves lands in Oaxaca and Guerrero states. Lamm's once-great ranch in Puebla had been reduced virtually to its ranch house and lawn by previous expropriations.

The Government also tried to expropriate residential property here which Lamm rented to a group of priests. It contended that the church had used it. Lamm's family, however, said he had not known of the use, and the expropriation attempt failed.

RUBBER WORKERS OPPOSE WAR-DRAFTING OF WEALTH

Speaker Says Such Step Would Favor Way for Action Against Labor.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 23.—A proposal that Congress draft wealth in time of war was unanimously rejected today by the international convention of the United Rubber Workers of America after L. L. Callahan of Akron, O., asserted such a procedure would be the way for drafting labor.

"This proposal would result in a virtual dictatorship over industry and labor," Callahan said. "Such sections as would apply to wealth would probably be stricken out by Congress and only those which hurt labor would remain."

Adjourning business sessions o make a trip to Atlantic City, delayed postponed until tomorrow the election of officers.

A. W. SAVAGE ENDS LIFE, FIREARMS INVENTOR

Shoots Himself at 83 in San Diego—Note Tells of Long Illness.

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 23.—Arthur W. Savage, inventor and founder of the Savage Arms Co. of Utica, N. Y., was found dead here yesterday from a bullet wound. A pistol was at his side. He was 83 years old.

Police said Savage left a note which stated: "This act is due to unbearable pain I have suffered from continued illness."

Just before he killed himself he telephoned to his son-in-law, Harold von Briesen, "Notify the Coroner and come on out; I'm going to shoot myself."

Savage came to San Diego in 1905 after disposing of his holdings in the arms company.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Alice von Briesen of San Diego, and a son, Arthur Savage, of La Mesa, Cal.

Savage placed on the market the first hammerless repeating rifle. He also designed the first smokeless sporting rifle, known as the Savage 803.

Born in Jamaica, West Indies, in 1827, the son of John and Jane Henderson Savage, he went to England for his education, remaining there until he was 19 years old.

He went to Australia, where he was engaged in cattle business for 11 years. There he was married to Anne Bryant.

He returned to Jamaica and was the owner of a coffee plantation for two years. In 1888 he went to

New York City, where he was employed by Munn & Co., publishers of scientific papers and magazines. Shortly thereafter, Savage arrived in Utica, where he became manager of a Utica street railway company. He later went to Saratoga Springs, N. Y., to occupy a similar position with a Saratoga street railway concern, remaining one year.

He returned to Utica and organized the Savage Arms Co. for the manufacture of his inventions, later becoming managing director of the concern.

In 1905 Savage went to California and became engaged in the orange growing business. In San Diego he formed the Savage Tire Co., a $35,000 corporation of which he was vice-president. During the World War, he resigned his position to work for the United States Government.

He was the father of eight children.

Police said Savage left a note which stated: "This act is due to unbearable pain I have suffered from continued illness."

PLAN TO MAKE POLITICAL ISSUE OF WPA WAGES

Executive Board of Workers' Alliance Declares Relief Has Become a National Scandal.

CLAIMS 8,000,000
VOTES SUPPORT IT

Drafts Program for Cleveland Convention Opened Today, Including Demand for More Pay.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Sept. 23.—The national Executive Board of the Workers' Alliance declared yesterday the relief issue has become a national scandal and emphasized its plan to make WPA wages a political issue in the 1938 elections.

The board's report will be submitted to the alliance convention, opening here today. It declared the alliance movement speaks for 16,000,000 unemployed and WPA workers.

"The 8,000,000 or more votes" of WPA workers and their families "constitute a political challenge of the underprivileged to the seats of reaction," said the board. "The toilers are determined to fight bitterly every step we take to advance and protect our economic and political interests."

"We must organize a campaign to see that our rights are protected and extended so that we can take a rightful place not only in this election but in the crucial 1940 elections."

WPA administration was described as "infested with politically appointed state, district, local and project officials, many of whom are viciously anti-labor, anti-New Deal and enemies of not only the WPA workers but of the program as such."

The board outlined the following objectives for the alliance: 3,500,000 WPA public works jobs next year; liberalization of requirements for WPA employment; wage increases; Federal unemployment assistance aid to the states; establishment of an adequate and just system of labor relations on the works program; "massing of the political power of the unemployed together with other progressive forces for the success of the progressive New Deal candidates in the 1938 election"; membership drive and "the cementing of our relationship with the organized labor movement, so that we can work co-operatively in the protection of the interests not only of the unemployed but of labor generally."

David Lasser, president of the alliance, described it as "a national organization of unemployed and WPA workers of the labor union type." He said there are 400,000 enrolled members in 45 states, including 200,000 paid-up members. Dues are roughly 15 cents a month for unemployed members and between 25 and 50 cents for WPA workers. Lasser said the alliance co-operates with the trade union movement, but is not affiliated with any union.

HAMILTON SAYS GOVERNMENT SHOULD SEEK FARM MARKETS

Declares Democrats Have Not Encouraged Efforts to Develop New Uses for Products.

STERLING, Ill., Sept. 23.—Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National Committee said in a speech at a Republican rally here last night that crop control legislation should be replaced by efforts to "encourage and expand consumption of farm products."

"Republicans in Congress for several years have sought to win approval for comparatively small appropriations to be used for the discovery, development and demonstration of new uses for products of the farm," Hamilton said. "But they have received no encouragement from either their Democratic colleagues or the present Secretary of Agriculture."

Hamilton said farm prices have dropped and that crop reduction efforts have not reduced surpluses. He said acreage formerly used for wheat had been turned to hay, forcing alfalfa prices down, and that cotton planters, forced to shift to other crops, are competing with northern dairymen.

"The difficulty is that the New Deal does not put the cart before the horse," Hamilton continued. "Instead of spending billions of dollars in a futile effort to reduce agricultural production, it should have been spent the last five years trying to encourage and expand consumption of farm products."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A "time capsule" containing a compressed storehouse of information about man's current activities, habits, clothes, food and pleasures, intended to edify his descendants 5000 years hence, was sunk into the earth at the World's Fair grounds today.

The seven-foot, torpedo-shaped tube of copper alloy contains more than 100 separate items, including a 5-cent can opener, a Bible, a woman's hat and various toys, and seven reels of film. Four reels of micro-film carry 10,000,000 words and a thousand pictures, and three other reels show highlights of the news of 1938.

Filmed for the capsule were New York newspapers, a variety of novels and works of non-fiction, sections from the Encyclopedia Britannica, the World Almanac and a mail-order catalogue, reproductions of modern paintings and music scores.

COOL WEATHER CHECKS EQUINE SLEEPING SICKNESS EPIDEMIC

First Frost Will Halt Spread of Disease in State, Says Specialist.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 23.—Cool weather this week brought relief to farmers affected by Missouri's worst epidemic of sleeping sickness among horses, and the most serious stage of the disease is past.

H. L. Mitchell, secretary of the union, a CIO affiliate, said the strike call went out to 20,000 members in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

COTTON PICKERS TRY NEW STYLE STRIKE

Urged to Stay at Home in Effort to Increase Wages From 40c to $1 a Hundred.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 23.—The Southern Tenant Farmers' Union tried out a new form of the sit-down strike among its cotton-picking members yesterday, in an effort to increase wages to $1 a hundred pounds.

President J. R. Butler said it was too early to judge the effects of the strike since "we are just getting under way," but he reported that one planter in the area around Forrest City, Ark., raised his offer from 40 cents to $1 after news of the strike spread.

In leaflets being distributed by the union, cotton pickers were urged to sit down in their homes "and wait until prices reach $1 a hundred pounds before picking another boll."

Sheriff Howard Curlin at Marion, Ark., as well as the authorities at Forrest City, reported a plentiful supply of agricultural labor and said there was no evidence of a response to the strike call in their sections.

H. L. Mitchell, secretary of the union, a CIO affiliate, said the strike call went out to 20,000 members in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

The union secretary asserted no attempt would be made to prevent other pickers from entering fields, but that an appeal would be made to the Department of Justice if planters attempted to bring out-of-state strike-breakers into the affected areas.

Bush in Missouri Fields to Handle Biting Crop.

HATTI, Mo., Sept. 23.—With thousands of persons, including many school children, working against time to harvest one of the last crops of cotton ever grown in Southeast Missouri, there was no indication today that the order for a sit-down strike, issued by Secretary H. L. Mitchell of the Tenant Farmers' Union at Memphis, Tenn., would be effective in this area.

Cotton is opening more rapidly than is ordinarily the case, according to county farm agents and growers, necessitating fast work on the part of the pickers to get it out of the fields while fair weather lasts.

About 35 to 40 per cent of the crop already has been picked.

The rate of pay for picking in this area is 75 cents a 100 pounds.

During the first two weeks of the harvest, intensive heat prevented the pickers from working to full capacity in the fields in the daylight hours, and to keep up with the rapid opening of the crop, hundreds of workers picked cotton by moonlight.

Gins at many points are operating on a 24-hour schedule in order to handle the emergency flood of raw cotton. Farmers with small forces of pickers and with fields ready to harvest are begging for pickers. Nearly all WPA work in Pemiscot County, Missouri, has been called off so workers can help in the emergency harvest. Rural schools have been closed for "cotton vacation," as farm children can help.

In Monroe County, Dr. Wilkerson, veterinarian, reported this week he had treated 58 cases in less than three weeks and that he estimates more than 150 cases have occurred in the county. Deaths among horses and mules are reported daily, though most of the animals have been saved.

A more severe epidemic is indicated for next year, Uren said. Sleeping sickness in Minnesota and Iowa has increased yearly since 1934 and it appears the disease in sections of Southeast Missouri were affected this year. Vaccination before July 1, 1939, was suggested by Uren as a means of preventing another serious outbreak.

HURRICANE SMASHES TEXAS PLAINSMAN'S GIFT YACHT

William J. Langford Said Only Such a Storm Could Stop World Trip, and It Did.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The gift that William J. Langford got the other day when a man walked up to him and said, "How would you like to have a yacht," vanished almost as quickly as he received it.

Langford, just up from the Texas plains, naturally did a good bit of checking, but sure enough,

John S. Nairn, who said he was a San Francisco inventor, proved to be on the square. Both masts were gone and the engine was missing, but a yacht's a yacht. Nairn said that the boat cost $75,000 25 years ago, but he didn't want it any longer and anyway he was working on new inventions.

Wednesday Langford was happy with plans for a world cruise. He would fix up the yacht in Boston, and charge $300 a head for the world trip. Nothing but a hurricane, he thought, is going to stop this trip.

That night there was a blustering hurricane, which smashed the gift yacht to kindling wood on the beach of Gravesend Bay.

Clean as a

Kitten

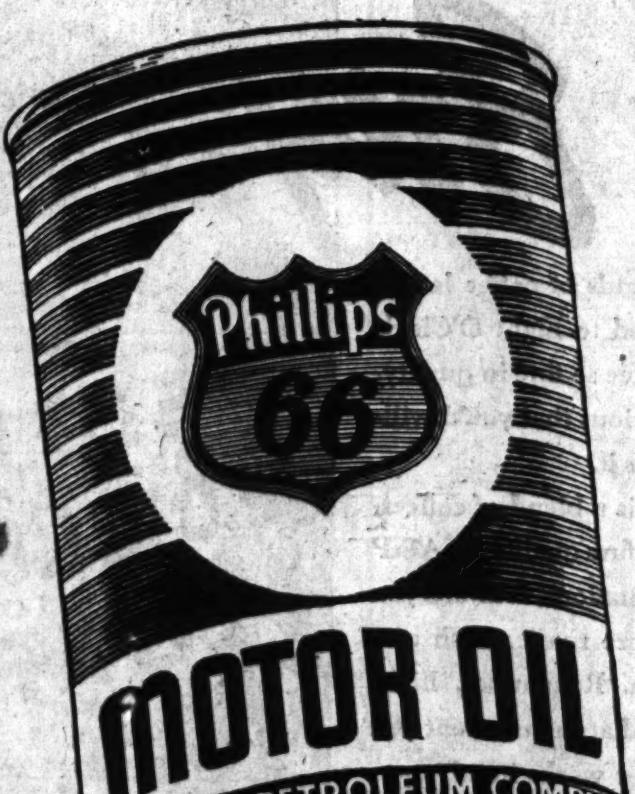

AS IF IT HAD NINE LIVES, a clean, correctly lubricated motor keeps going mile after mile, year after year... with less fuss and noise, and fewer costly visits to the repair shop.

The dictionary says that refine means "to purify, to cleanse"—which gives you an idea of what we do to produce Phillips 66 Motor Oil. Out go destructive impurities and harmful elements. Out goes wax, to insure free, fast flow in winter. Out goes gum which might make piston rings stick.

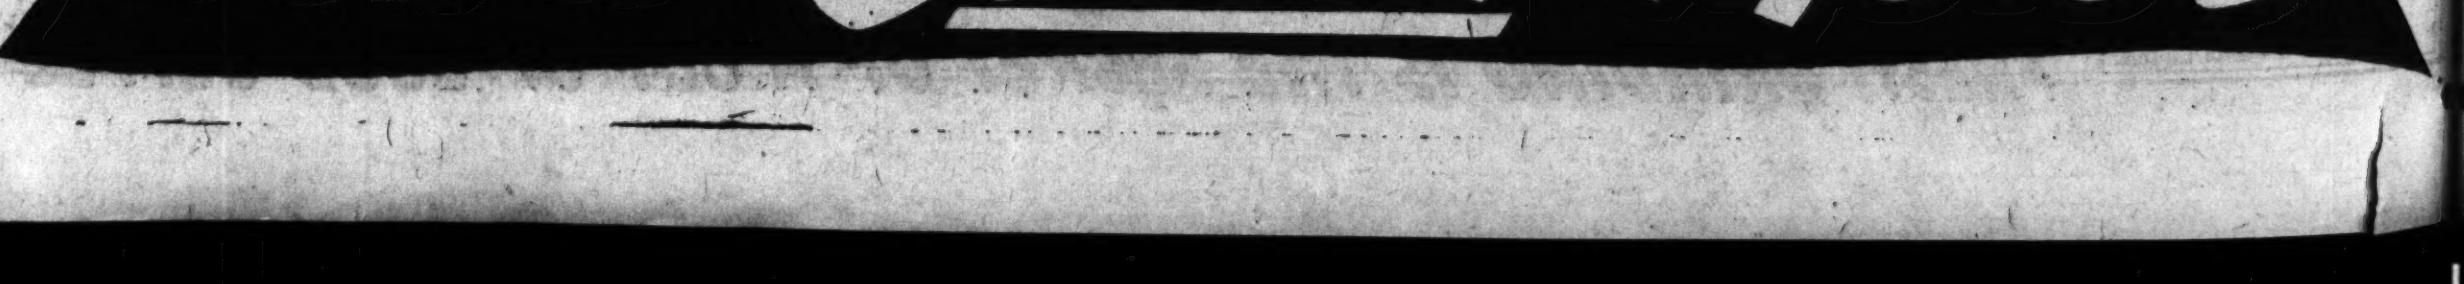

What remains is a great lubricant... 100% Paraffin base... 100% Phillips value, with rich body and high-degree oiliness to provide a tough, friction-reducing film... resistant to high speed, high pressure, and high heat.

And the big plus is the Phillips name. This makes for peace of mind, because you know that you are getting all the lubrication you pay for, when you drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil... at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

CHINESE REPORT SINKING JAPANESE SHIP IN AIR RAID

Planes Said to Have Damaged Two Other Gunboats East of Kiukiang—Heavy Fighting in Hopeh

MALARIA SPREADING IN BOTH ARMIES

Thousands of Soldiers and Civilians in War Zone Dead or Ill of Malignant Disease.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—Japanese forces continued to move toward Sinyang, 100 miles north of Hankow, today in the hope of cutting the railroad between Peiping and the provisional capital.

Chinese dispatches admitted this progress, but declared heavy fighting was going on along both banks of the Yangtze River where the invaders were striving to hold hard-won positions in southeast Hupeh Province.

The Chinese also said the Japanese suffered "enormous losses" near Macheng and that a three-day hand-to-hand battle on the north shore of the Yangtze 13 miles west of Wusuh ended in a Chinese victory, with the Japanese leaving 700 dead.

South of the river, Chinese reports said, the Japanese attempted to advance west of Juichang, but "their progress was extremely slow" and they suffered thousands of casualties.

The Chinese air force was said to have raided Japanese warships east of Kiukiang, sinking one and damaging two enemy vessels.

Authoritative foreign reports from the war zone said malignant malaria was widespread with thousands of Japanese and Chinese soldiers and civilians dead or ill.

OFFICE OF RACING NEWS SERVICE RAIDED IN CHICAGO

Prosecutor's Police Find Papers Giving Names of 1000 Hand-book Operators in City.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—State's Attorney's police, raiding the offices of the Nationwide News Service on the fourteenth floor of a loop office building, yesterday, seized what they hoped would be a handy guide to every handbook in Chicago.

Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said the news service was a lawful concern engaged in the business of reporting racing results.

Its records interested the State's Attorneys office, he explained, because it was believed to serve most of the city's horse betting places.

Sixteen sheets, containing the addresses, telephone numbers and names of operators and owners of about 1000 handbooks were seized and taken to the prosecutor's office for study. Stenographers were called in to copy the information.

Continuing their campaign of destruction against the handbooks, the State's Attorney's police broke into 10 more yesterday and demolished them with axes and sledgehammers.

UNIFORM BAR ON FIREWORKS

League of Municipalities Urges All Cities in County to Adopt It.

St. Louis, County cities were urged to pass ordinances prohibiting sale of fireworks for purposes other than displays in a resolution adopted by the St. Louis County League of Municipalities at a meeting at Delmar City Hall.

Mayor Edwin F. Chapman of Webster Groves, who proposed the resolution, said Clayton, Kirkwood and University City already had such legislation and that three other county municipalities were considering it. A law of the type recommended is in effect in St. Louis.

GOODMAN TO 'SWING IT' AT CONCERT TONIGHT

Band Leader Who Can't Define His Rhythm Will Impose for "Jitterbugs."

Benny Goodman, the earnest young clarinetist whom the "jitterbugs" of America have hailed as the "king of swing," finds it as hard as the psychologists and the music critics to give a definition of the kind of music which he has helped turn into a minor national craze.

In St. Louis for a concert and jam session at the Municipal Auditorium tonight, he said when asked for a description of swing: "You might as well try to define poetry."

Swing, as everyone knows, consists largely of improvisation. Any tune—popular, operatic, or classical—has wild and fanciful changes running on it, but there are no set rules. And just what it is, is not even the best practitioners will say.

Swing has, like jazz a decade ago, invaded the sacred halls of classical music and now its status in the history of music is less known than ever before. Tonight's performance is an example. The first part will be a concert, with the audience theoretically trying to sit still while Goodman plays on the stage. Then follows the rumpus of a jam session. The promoter of the affair has been bothered all day by ticket holders who want to know whether they should come formally dressed as for a symphony concert or stripped down for a good, hot shag.

For this state of affairs, Goodman himself is responsible. He gave swing "significance" by replacing the New York Philharmonic for a concert at Carnegie Hall last winter. Since then he also has played in Symphony Hall in Boston. He has made Mozart records with the Budapest String Quartet and this season he will play a duet with Joseph Szigeti, the noted Hungarian violinist, while Baba Bartok, modern Hungarian composer, is writing for him.

Goodman takes it all in stride. Just 29 years old, he is a hard-working musician who plays an average of about 5000 persons every day in the year. He started playing the clarinet when he was 11 years old in Chicago and he quit high school to join up with a band. Last week he went back to Chicago's Hull House, where he used to play as a youngster, and gave the children a complete concert.

His favorite composer among the classicists is Mozart. Among contemporary popular writers it is Fletcher Henderson, who, with Jimmie Mundy and Edgar Thompson, does all of his arrangements.

He is wary about giving his personal reaction to the crazy and inflamed antics of the devout "jitterbugs." He says he doesn't care what they do, if they don't get too wild. The enthusiasm they create floats over and gives the orchestra an added lift, he says.

The last time he was here, he recalled, was 14 years ago, when he was playing with Ben Pollack's orchestra. It was then that he met the late Bix Beiderbecke, the legendary trumpeting hero of swing, who played and drank himself to an early death. Goodman later played in Beiderbecke's orchestra.

Unlike old-time swingsters, Goodman doesn't take a drink of gin every 15 minutes to embellish his improvisations. He describes himself as "almost a teetotaler."

Dr. Hanks will report his findings to Gov. Stark. Awaiting execution are Adam Richey, convicted murderer in the Kansas City Union Station killings; Oscar Ralph Aworth, sentenced for a St. Joseph kidnapping; Byron E. King, convicted of a murder in St. Louis, and Granville Allen, Negro, condemned for a Kansas City killing.

4 CONDEMNED MEN EXAMINED

State Hospital Superintendent Will Report on Their Sanity.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 23.—Four men awaiting execution in Missouri's lethal gas chamber received sanity examinations yesterday by Dr. Ralf Hanks, superintendent of the State hospital at Fulton.

Dr. Hanks will report his findings to Gov. Stark. Awaiting execution are Adam Richey, convicted murderer in the Kansas City Union

Station killings; Oscar Ralph Aworth, sentenced for a St. Joseph kidnapping; Byron E. King, convicted of a murder in St. Louis, and Granville Allen, Negro, condemned for a Kansas City killing.

DEPRESSED ON MODERATE SALES WAVE

Fear of Breakdown in Hitler-Chamberlain Negotiations Leads to Renewed Selling With Downward Range Extending to Around 3 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Selling on a moderate scale was renewed in security markets today, depressing many stocks 1 to 3 points, as Wall Street revised its hopes for preservation of European peace.

Suspension of the Hitler-Chamberlain talks, together with warlike preparations in various countries and clashes on the Czechoslovak border, seemed to dispel much of the financial community's assurance that extensive bloodshed would be avoided in the Czech-Nazi struggle.

Accustomed to week-end crises and coups in Europe, traders put their accounts in shape to stand another shock if need be. But the selling was a mere echo of the ex-erited liquidation at the height of the war fright recently.

The lapse in peace hopes was apparent throughout the market place. Foreign currencies declined in terms of the dollar, pointing to a further shift of capital to New York. Bonds sagged with stocks while the grain pit was dominated by speculation for the rise again on the chance war moves might stimulate demand for foodstuffs.

Sales Only 721,300 Shares.

The decline, extending yesterday's reaction from the preceding three-day rally, eliminated a good part of the week's gains in such shares as United States Steel, General Motors, Union Carbide, General Electric, Chrysler, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville, International Harvester, Electric Auto Lite and Southern Pacific.

While larger than in the preceding session, transactions totaled only 721,300 shares.

Wheat at Chicago closed 9/16 cents a bushel higher. Corn was up 1/4 cent higher. Cotton near the finish was down 15 to 30 cents a bale.

At mid-afternoon the British pound was 4.79% off 2 cents. The French franc was quoted at 2.68 cents, off 0.1% of a cent.

Motor shares seemed to get more attention than most stocks from sellers.

News of the Day.

Combined with the darkening European picture, it looked to Wall Street, was the disclosure of the scope of the hurricanes property damage and heavy loss of life along the northeastern seaboard. How hard business and financial institutions had been hit in the stricken areas was impossible to calculate. The most direct effects visible to brokers was interruption of commission business over disrupted wire services into New England.

Insurance losses, it was assumed, would be substantial. But liquidation in security lists was attributed primarily to European rather than home news.

The weekly rail loading report was the best this year, with traffic up 91,255 cars to 660,142. Coal, however, accounted chiefly for the gain.

Overnight Developments.

The U. S. Labor Department's estimate factory payrolls had added about 320,000 wage earners in August, the largest gain for the month in recent years except in 1933 and 1935.

Despite trade improvement, latest condition figures of New York City banks showed a further decrease in business loans. More than offsetting this credit contraction, however, was sharp expansion in bank holdings of U. S. Government obligations as result of the Treasury's mid-September offerings.

LAST WEEK'S GOLD IMPORTS 4-YEAR RECORD, $130,914,078

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Gold imports totaled $130,914,078 last week—the largest amount in any week of the last four years.

The Commerce Department said today the imports included $161,121,445 from England, $4,066,097 from the Netherlands, $3,840,000 from Sweden, $5,112,971 from Canada, $1,239,624 from Mexico, $11,000,000 from Japan and $1,256,017 from Australia.

Silver imports rose slightly last week to $25,958, including $4,300,000 from China, $18,556 from Mexico and $382,408 from Canada.

CITY TO ASK PWA AID ON ELEVATED HIGHWAY

$1,800,000 Grant Proposed to Help Widen Third St. in Downtown Area.

Application will be made by the city to the PWA within the next week for a $1,800,000 grant as 45 per cent of the estimated $4,000,000 cost of a partially elevated highway connecting widened Gravois Avenue and North Twelfth boulevard, by way of Third street, it was announced today by L. A. Pettus, chief paving engineer for the city. The proposal is dependent on the success of the election Nov. 6 on the State-wide ballots in the November election. This would increase the State gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents a gallon and allocate a share of the receipts to St. Louis, from which the city's $2,000,000 portion of the new highway cost would be borne. Pettus estimated the city's revenue for major thoroughfare improvements under proposition No. 6 at $1,400,000 a year.

Widening of Third street from its present average of 36 feet to 100 feet would be involved in the plan. This would be carried out in connection with the projected riverfront memorial between Washington Avenue and Poplar street, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. The extensions of this route to Gravois Avenue and Twelfth street and to North Twelfth boulevard at Fifteenth and Mullanphy streets would consist partially of elevated structures to clear cross streets, Pettus said.

He was not prepared to announce what far north and south of the riverfront memorial area the widening of Third street might be carried out. The character of the districts at either end would indicate that widened Third might be extended to a point south of Municipal Bridge and to the vicinity of Broadway and O'Fallon street. Total length of the new highway would be about three and one-half miles, including about one mile of elevated structures, Pettus said. The elevated structures would have 42-foot or four-lane roadways, with no provision for parking and no sidewalks.

Arrangements have not been made for obtaining the necessary right-of-way. Construction probably would require two years. The application to the PWA must be submitted by next Friday, under the new public works law.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY RELIEF CHECK LOST; NEW ONE ISSUED

MARION, Ill., Sept. 23.—Williamson County relief clients will receive their allotments today, County Treasurer Lee Calhoun announced, despite the fact that the $17,000 check from the State Auditor's office in Springfield was lost in the mail.

With the county's relief allotment long overdue, Calhoun went to the State capital today, where he was informed the check had been mailed a week ago.

He filed affidavit it had not been received and was issued a new check by the State Auditor, who stopped payment on the original check, which is still missing.

Hitler's Policies Helping to Italianize the Tyrol

Germans Below Brenner Pass Are Beginning to Consider Themselves Lucky to Be Out of Fatherland.

(From a Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune.)

St. Louis in the 26-year period, 1917-37, cost $118,843,600, it was shown in a progress chart in the annual report of the City Plan Commission, made public yesterday.

This included $23,531,600 for 60.97 miles of major thoroughfares. Costs of the improvements in all other classifications aggregated $95,311,200, including acquisition of 2448.83 acres of land.

By groups, apart from major streets, costs were: Public buildings and plazas, $43,831,500; grade separations and bridges, $10,569,500; public schools, $19,615,900; Water Division establishments, $16,343,900; parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities, $4,951,000.

Principal items in the public buildings and plazas category were Municipal Auditorium, Civil Courts Building, new Federal Building, numerous institutional structures, several police stations, Lambert-St. Louis Field, several markets, Memorial Plaza and Municipal Theater.

The bulk of the grade separations and bridges account was for elimination of railroad grade crossings.

Population Density Control.

In connection with the comprehensive revision of the zoning code being prepared under the commission's direction, the report disclosed that the proposed new ordinance would have provisions for the control of density of population. Details have not been completed but it has been assumed that the density rule might be varied according to the characteristics of the neighborhood.

Such a regulation, said the report, is contained in the zoning codes of most cities. The St. Louis code has governed only property use and height and area of buildings.

A definite objective in the revision of the property use zones, the report declared, was to establish use districts more consistent with actual use than the existing districts. It was pointed out that elaborate studies have shown much too small a proportion of the city's area zoned for residential use, "while the multiple dwelling, commercial, industrial and unrestricted uses are far in excess of an possible future use."

Computations and Maps.

It was related that a large volume of detailed work has been carried out in the zoning studies in preparation for the zoning revision. Completed computations and maps are being considered by the commission's Population, Land Use and Zoning Committee.

The report called attention to a request from the Chamber of Commerce last March for a detailed study and plan for location of a proposed modern wholesale food terminal. This was referred to a committee for consideration.

ITALY TRANSFERS ITS COLONIZATION EFFORTS TO LIBYA

This Action Follows Discovery That Settling Ethiopia Will Require Years of Pacification.

(From a Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune.)

ROME.—Italy has switched immediate plans for colonization of the empire from Ethiopia to Libya after an investigation by Gen. Attilio Teruzzi, Under-Secretary for Italian Africa, which revealed that years of pacification and organization would be necessary for mass colonization in Ethiopia.

To divert popular attention from this disappointment and to keep the fires of imperial enthusiasm alight, work was rushed this summer to prepare the coastal region of Cirenaica, between Bengasi and Derna, for 1000 settler families, the first, it is hoped, of 10,000.

This region, lying between the parched central plateau and the Mediterranean, received most of the country's nine to 18 inches of annual rainfall. This would be sufficient if it could be relied on to fall regularly when crops need it. But as it falls mostly in short showers during the winter, it must be supplemented by irrigation. A great dam is being constructed in the Derna region, where the heaviest rainfall occurs, from which an aqueduct will run to Barce, distributing water on the way. About 3500 workmen are busy on this project or on building houses, digging wells and preparing the ground. The colonists will leave Italy on Oct. 29, the first of the seventeenth year of the Fascist era.

Four Villages Being Built.

Following Italian tradition, the colonists' houses are being built in villages, four of which are now under construction near the trunk highway along the coast which leads to the Egyptian border. This means that in many cases laborers must travel many miles to their work every day, but most of them prefer this to living on isolated farms. The typical village consists of a church, the House of the Fascio, a school, an inn, barracks, colonization headquarters and the colonists' homes.

The experiment is being carried out on territory which in classical times was rich agricultural country. It is not a matter of debate whether its subsequent failure was due to bad farming, administrative break-down or gradually decreasing rainfall. The results of the next few years may provide the answer.

Would Protect Natives.

Some straight talking—what must be done in Ethiopia is delivered by Gen. Teruzzi in an interview in the "Azione Coloniale."

The most urgent matter, the General stressed, was to secure the natives, individually and collectively, in the possession of their lands. This suggests that the Fascists recognize that the country cannot be pacified until this is done, and that forcible confiscation of native land would be inadvisable. It is reported that there are about twice as many inhabitants as the Italians had expected to find—the figures range between 17,000,000 and 21,000,000, numbers which make the native problem very different from what had been anticipated.

"Legal recognition of native proprietorship, both individual and collective, is a political prerequisite to any development of the imperial lands," Gen. Teruzzi said. "It must be far-reaching and complete, and above all be carried out in the shortest possible time."

Next he asserted that there must be a complete change of attitude. The post-conquest boom mentality must give way to hard, plodding work, get-rich-quick dreams to the solution of practical problem, waste to economy and the airplane to the muscle team.

Would Use Animals.

"I am more than ever convinced of the necessity of acting quickly, and, on a large scale, to make animal traction in Italian East Africa an accomplished fact," he said. "We must demobilize this deplorable spendthrift mentality which uses 100 men where 10 would do, employs an airplane when a car would be ample, and a car where a team of mules would be enough. Now that the regime is building many splendid roads, it would be an unpardonable mistake if animal traction were not exploited to the utmost both by natives and by Italians."

This evidently reflects the concern of the Fascist authorities at the great expense which will have to be borne in developing the country. Billions of lire which might have been applied there have been spent in the Spanish adventure, which still shows no signs of ending. The international capital market is closed to Italy, and even when it is opened, the adoption of anti-Semitism will be a factor detrimental to the placing of a loan in either London or—supposing it could be done for other reasons—in New York.

There will not be much to spare for Ethiopia, and that little must not be dissipated on "luxuries" like gasoline, which must be imported and paid for in foreign exchange. Under these conditions, preparation of the new lands for colonization will be a long operation. Libya is the stop-gap chosen to keep the colonizing spirit afame.

Varied Infections

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

BESIDES localized infection of one part of the body—for instance, a boil; and generalized infection of the body—for instance, typhoid fever—both of which we have considered in previous articles, there are certain infections that do neither one thing or the other. They are known among pathologists as the specific granulomas. One example is syphilis. The best example is tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is both a generalized infection and a localized infection. It changes from time to time in its course from one to the other. The tubercle bacilli may invade the blood stream and go all over the body and then suddenly congregate in one spot, and set up a localized inflammation.

—O—

LET US TRY to understand what the pathologists mean by a specific granuloma.

The specific granuloma of tuberculosis is the tubercle. It was called that because that is exactly what it looks like. The dictionary says that a tubercle is a knotlike excrescence on an animal or plant. To the naked eye a tubercle—say in the lung—is a small white nubbin or spot. It looks somewhat like a small seed—in fact, one form of tuberculosis—miliary tuberculosis—was named after millet seeds.

To the naked eye it looks like that, but when seen under the microscope it presents typically a very characteristic arrangement. There is a large cell in the center surrounded by two zones of smaller cells. This tubercle was the only way there was of recognizing the disease before the time when the cause was discovered. So it was called the specific granuloma. It is specific to the disease, and it is a granuloma like a localized inflammatory lesion.

ANOTHER FORM of infection which presents special features is infection by animal parasites. The bacteria are classified as of the vegetable kingdom. But organisms such as the malarial plasmodium and the amoeba are animals. Against them the body offers very little defense. It is unable to destroy them as it does bacteria, and it produces no antibodies to combat their poison, as it does in the case of bacterial infection. I have known cases of malarial infection to recur year after year, 20 times or more, with no diminution in vigor. The malarial plasmodium stays in the body in such cases and seems to hibernate to arouse itself every once in a while.

But man's ingenuity has supplied what the body lacks in such forms of infection. The animal parasites are far easier killed off by drugs and chemicals. Thus for malaria we have quinine, for amoebic infection ipecac for syphilis salvarsan.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

On Broadway—By Walter Winchell

Forecast of the New Theater Season.

ONE of the lyrics in a Cole Porter score will be a huge inside laugh to the crowd at the Colony and a mystery to the performers who sing it, and the general public. Several Wall Streeters, disgusted with the slip-shod way the theater is run, will join up in a production and run it on "sound business principles."

They will wind up with everything accounted for neatly and thoroughly—in red ink... Those Sunday articles irrefutably proving the road is and is not dead... That unknown play that will sneak in, after an epidemic of turkeys, and become the darling of the theater brokers like, "Room Service," "Three Men on a Horse" and "The Children's Hour"... No opening will be complete without Hope Hampton, cute and immaculate, walking down the aisles and taking her place unostentatiously in A-101... Those columns on the days on which there are no shows to crucify, in which the reviewers will wistfully compare the fate of American plays in London and the receptions accorded the imported Noel Cowards on 45th Street... The show which will get rave notices and somehow not catch on.

—O—

That one-set comedy with six people, populated with unknowns, which will be postponed 12 times on account of "mechanical difficulties," i. e., the backer's brother-in-law couldn't sell his taxicab for $300 for the Equity bond... The drama which will be furiously panned and torn out, to the consternation of the critics, to become a smash like "The Women," "Able's Irish Rose," and, of course, "Tobacco Road"... One of the more elderly female stars will show up gushing sweet platitudes, hoping her sunny nature will make the customers overlook the poundage she's acquired in two idle seasons... Lunt and Fontanne will sell out, as usual, and 16 managers will attribute the death of their turkeys to the fact that L & F. weren't available for them... Katharine Hepburn's return to a stage role will be announced every Tuesday, instead of all the days of the week as heretofore.

Playwrights lost to the cinema for several years will come back with dialogue written strictly in Hollywood terms—all dollars and millions and sables and yachts... There will be interviews in the drama sections about the man-and-wife author team—how Lloyd always thought of the best lines and Myrtle figured out the romance... A returning old-timer will get a tremendous ovation on opening night and won't be finished bowing until the trucks have backed up to haul away the show... Somebody is sure to fetch in some historical monkey business, with the girls swinging fans, the heroes swinging scarlet cloaks and the critics swinging hammers.

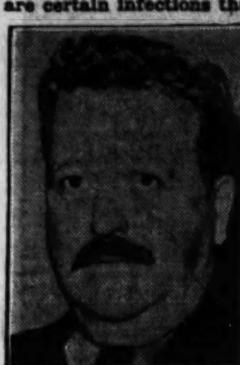

On the coldest night of the year, when Nathan sits in, instead of on his fur coat, the show will be all about nekkid South Sea Islanders collapsing from heat.

—O—

In all likelihood, the coming season will be remembered as the one which introduced television as an alibi for bad business... As always, the usual quota of wonder boys—managers, directors, actors—will emerge, and last year's wizards can laugh at the nonsense they're spouting in the press—which is their own, in newer words... There will be no sound of clattering dishes and rattling knives in the Algonquin eating rooms—because it can't rise above the English accents... The Kauffman-Hart show will have one character who speaks witty lines with dead-pan crispness.

You wouldn't think they'd try the ugly duckling theme again, would you? The one about the boy tumbling that his stenog is a Colbert the minute she switches from anti-Japanese to silk sox. But it'll be along—that's a promise... Times being a little tough, there will be only two shows revealing little lads in loose shirts pretending to be either Shelley or Wagner... One of the most frequently announced shows of the season will be junked in January because of the "unavailability of John Barrymore." John has been a mask for a non-existent bankroll long enough. Let Lionel have a shot at it... The movie deck of the "Dead End" kids will encourage another manager to give up a lame shindig with a new gang of toughs, with dirtier necks and louder swear words than their predecessors.

There will be eight performances of a bargain basement revue made up of sluggish parodies and a few songs that try to out-Dwight Mr. Fluke.

Glasses Are Irksome for Most Children

Careful Fitting Must Be Followed by Training to Wear Them.

By Angelo Patri

WHEN a school child has been fitted with glasses, under the specialist's orders, he should wear them as directed, not as he chooses. Children rarely want to wear glasses. Their heads don't ache all the time, and they are not convinced that their poor work is caused by bad vision. Somebody told them so, but then, somebody is always telling them, "Glasses are a nuisance." So they are left at home, or, hidden in school bags or pockets. That is not good for the tired or defective eyes that need help.

Classroom work is trying on the pupils' eyes under the best conditions.

If the eyes are tired, or weak, or defective, they cannot withstand the strain as well as when they are perfect, and if perfect eyes tire what must happen to the already strained eyes?

Eyes are precious, vision is so important, that children should be trained to protect themselves against any loss of seeing power. They do not know what we are talking about when we warn them about the light, and the close print, and the way they are sitting and holding their books. They wish we would let them alone, and tell us so. But that does not lessen our responsibility. They show us they do not understand the importance of vision, so we have to make an extra effort to persuade them to wear glasses.

All children should be watched and warned and guided toward good sense in the use of their eyes and their glasses.

School children often have weaknesses, slight defects, which if properly met with glasses, disappear; but which, if neglected, remain to plague the children for all their days. Many times the glasses do their work so successfully that they can be laid away for good, but if they are left on the table, or hidden in the bookbag, they cannot do much toward that happy ending.

Children should be prepared beforehand when it is known they have to have glasses. They can be told about the need for them, and their protests answered kindly and truthfully. Girls need not always wear glasses to parties. Maybe using them while they read is enough. The same for the boys.

Encourage them by telling them about the workers who wear glasses. Men using drills wear glasses to protect their eyes from the light, and from flying particles.

Scientists use all sorts of lenses to add power to their eyes, as well as glasses for protection. So do jewelers, and miners, and aviators. All intelligent workers use glasses to protect their eyes while they work. That includes school children.

Make certain that the glasses are really suited to the child's eyes. The recognized specialist is the one to assure this. Then watch to see that the glasses are always in good shape. They get rough usage, and it is easy to put them out of line. If that happens, if a lens is tilted ever so slightly off its true line, headaches and general discomfort will result, and of course the child will not want to wear them. He should not wear a glass that is not in perfect adjustment.

When glasses suit the child's eyes and are accurately fitted to his nose and his ears, he will forget he has them on. They will help him so much that he will not want to forget them. In any case, train him to wear them faithfully and ask the teachers to help.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

AM in love with a boy and know that he is in love with me—but he takes me entirely too much for granted. He telephones at the last minute and asks for a date and when I already have one, he gets angry and says that I knew he was going to ask me. I think he assumes too much, even if I do know his mind. As long as he wants to be with me, don't you think he could ask ahead of time?

I am reasonably popular and have plenty of chances to make other dates and as long as he continues to call me up at the last minute I'm going to make other dates when I have the chance. Can't you suggest something that will make him understand? I've tried everything and want to be with him, but don't

GOOD OLD RELIABLE.

I agree with you entirely. He may think it all right to test you out in this way; and I should say that he is being something of a gambler. But, even should he want to put you to such a test, his regard for good form and good breeding might suggest that he show you the courtesy expected of a gentleman in such circumstances. If he is ignorant of the proper attention and deference due you, you might forgive him if he were willing to learn. However, if he has had the teaching that I surmise from your letter he has had, then this is just a piece of ungrateful selfishness.

—O—

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM A GIRL 13 years of age and have a lot of freckles. I do not know how to get rid of them. Will you please tell me how?

FRECKLE FACE.

You should not bother, too much, at your age about freckles. They are not now considered the beauty defect they once were. A reasonable amount of protection of this type of skin is necessary, because it is of the fair, tender type. For this, you should consult some skin specialist or go to a high class place where you will be sold an article for this purpose by someone who knows her business.

If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I will mail you some suggestions for this trouble.

—O—

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM A YOUNG girl of 23, neat in appearance. Often I go to the movies in the afternoon with my mother or one of my girl friends and many times I have been annoyed by men who sit next to me. We are interested in the picture and not paying any attention to these men and several times we have asked them to kindly leave us alone, or we have got up and taken different seats. What can be done about these men? I wish you would answer this, as I have discussed it among my friends who have had the same experience.

NEELDA.

Such as you describe can be handled only by an usher or the manager of the theater. And the next time you have such an experience as you describe, lose no time in reporting the incident to either the usher or the manager.

—O—

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A SCHOOL GIRL, graduated from the eighth grade last year and entering high next year. At first I did not want to go to high, but mother wanted me to. My clothes are so shabby, I am afraid and ashamed to enter. As it happens we are very poor; we are all the relief and have lived off it now for four years. My mother is a widow and not altogether well. I have an older sister who works for a living. I wondered if I might obtain help through your column, if someone has clothes they no longer want. I have tried to find work, but the times are hard. I would appreciate help through your column.

E. M. B.

Since you live out of town, you would not be eligible for work which might be had here during your vacation, to add something to your family income. And before I can ask anyone to contribute this clothing, which, of course, I would be glad to do, I shall have to ask you to send the name of your relief worker and possibly a letter from her, to require references or credentials of some sort. This I have said a good many times, but I still receive requests without such references and in case they receive no reply, they will understand the reason.

Propriety - - - - - By Emily Post

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it in questionable taste for a woman to accept an engagement ring from a man whose divorce is still in the courts? In other words, should she wait to wear the ring until the divorce becomes final?

Answer: She should wait until the divorce is granted before she even considers herself engaged. In fact, she might do well to remember he is still the husband of another woman.

Dear Mrs. Post: An acquaintance of mine recently told me that she and a young man whom she has known and liked considerably for the past year are planning to go for the weekend to a nearby resort hotel. I questioned such a plan and she said frankly that she had never done this before, but she felt it was flaunting strict proprieties to the winds for the first time in her life. She explained he is a cat and going with him would be certainly much more pleasant than going alone. Her frankness shocked me at first, and yet I found myself quickly accepting the situation as a matter of course. In this day and age, isn't an attitude like hers more to be admired than criticized?

Answer: In all these cases if depends tremendously upon where they are going and still more upon their own behavior. If she is going to a hotel in the country where she is known, and to a small hotel, moreover to one in which all the other guests are to a certain degree chaperoned, they will actually be looked after quite as well as though her own Aunt Jane had gone on the journey with them.

Also, as I have written many times before, their own personal attitude toward each other is in some way—though I can't explain how—made apparent to all the people who encounter them. If their own attitude is upright, this is almost certain to be understood, and the chances are that they will be criticized by no one. On the other hand, if they go off together and begin to act as though they should, people will think the worst of them, and tell everybody who will listen what they think. It is true that to go on a holiday together, stopping each night in a different hotel, especially in the city, would be a very foolhardy thing to do.

It is not loving to be broken-hearted because of Love. It is shameful! You have no more right to keep a broken heart than you would to maintain a public nuisance! Hearts were meant to be used. You have used your heart... you can use it again. There are endless little ones starving for Love... crying out in the night for warmth, mothering arms. There are endless men and women going lonely for lack of a friend or a mate. Yet you refuse to use your heart because your one Love has gone! YOU ARE A TRAITOR TO ALL THAT LOVE MEANS!

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By Bob Burns
HERE'S a whole lot of truth to the old saying that the grass looks green away. That's because you can't see the brown patch and the bare spots until you get right on top of 'em.
I know a city boy who worked in an office and he got so sick and tired of having to punch the time clock every morning at 8 o'clock that he just couldn't stand it any more. He had always heard that they didn't have time clocks on a farm so one day he gave up his job, packed his clothes and headed for the open spaces.
When he told an old farmer about havin' to punch this time clock every morning at 8 o'clock, the farmer took pity on the boy and says, "Well, you come to work for me, son—I don't have no time clock." The boy says, "Well, what time do I go to work?" The farmer says, "It don't make no difference as long as it ain't after half past four."

Why Does Love Seem to Miss Some People?

It Skips Them Because They Fear Its Cost and Complications:

By Elsie Robinson

So you think love has passed you by? Cheated you... deserted you... broken your heart? And you're sick with bitterness and loneliness?

Don't be a fool! Love doesn't pass people by—if they really want it. Love can't pass by people who really want it... really feel it... For love isn't something that comes or goes.

Love is something you have in your own heart... something you make and live and give. And any one who is willing to live and give love, always has it, nothing can take it away from them. Not indifference. Or bad luck. Or desperation. Or death. Love is always there for those who will have it.

I'm sick of hearing old maids whine about the love which never came their way. I'm sick of hearing wives and mothers wall about the love they've lost.

Hitherto, I've tried to mind my manners with such people. And be sorry for them. Well, I am sorry for them. But I'm not sorry for them in the way they want me to be, and I intend to tell them so. Just for once, I'm going to tell them the truth about love—and about what alls them.

Listen, you old maids! You resigned of resentful women, drifting along through meaningless, empty lives. You women with your pitiful, exasperating alibis and pretenses, your ghastly, obvious hunger. Why did you get this way? Here's why you got that way!

You say love skipped you. But love didn't skip you—you skipped love. You were afraid of love. You were afraid of its cost and its complications. You wanted to have your cake and eat it, too. You wanted a man around to prove you could have a man around. But you didn't want a man around to love, or follow, or serve or endure.

You didn't want male ashes or male tempers or male coarseness or male guifaws at your pussy-footing ways. You wanted a man—fierciously. But you didn't want a man—materially. You weren't willing to be a warm, tolerant mother to a man... or a gay, carefree companion to a man. You wanted a man to boss... or exhibit... or admire you... or run your errands.

But you didn't want to be used yourself. And men feel those things... and beat it while the beating's good.

LISTEN, you angry wives! You abused and revengeful women, everlasting relating your tale of sorrow. If you had used one hundred dollars to buy a new dress, you'd part the fine and energy and imagination working to make a man happy as you do in getting a hunk you wouldn't have any tale of sorrow to relate. Yes, I know that some men are Bad Numbers. But I know, too, that many a Lovely, Refined, Pure Lady can think up more dirt in a minute than a man could commit in a year. And nine times out of 10, you come to your marriages thinking such dirt, chockful of suspicion, prickly with Little Plans for Managing Men.

Then you wonder why YOUR man fails for some comfortable Blonds who at least let him think he's getting a break? Wotta surprise! You ask for it, then you yell your head off when you get it! Yet you say Love "abused" you! Lady, you wouldn't recognize Love if God introduced you. Where you belong is on the Poison Squad!

And lastly, you broken-hearted mothers... you mothers who spend your lives sobbing above some grave.

It is hard to tell: to you for I have been one of you, and I know your dreadful hurt. And yet you betray Love worst of all. You who have known real Love are betraying it with every tear... telling the world with every tear that Love was not worth what it costs.

How dare you stop loving... You have once known the beauty and generosity of love? How dare you sell your heart... You whose hearts once knew the glory of giving?

It is not loving to be broken-hearted because of Love. It is shameful!

You have no more right to keep a broken heart than you would to maintain a public nuisance!

Hearts were meant to be used. You have used your heart... you can use it again.

There are endless little ones starving for Love... crying out in the night for warmth, mothering arms.

There are endless men and women going lonely for lack of a friend or a mate.

Yet you refuse to use your heart because your one Love has gone!

YOU ARE A TRAITOR TO ALL THAT LOVE MEANS!

ALL-PURPOSE ENSEMBLES

Varied Costume Suits Fit in Well for Sudden Temperature Changes.

By Sylvia Stiles

THE luckiest woman (and perhaps she should be classified as the wisest, too) is the one who prepares for the sudden changes of autumn weather in St. Louis with the purchase of a costume suit. She not only looks smart but she feels that way, too, when an early investment in an ever-ready, all-purpose ensemble starts her into the cool days and keeps her looking trim and comfortable during the next two months.

The weather such as St. Louis has experienced recently was made for costume suits and offers convincing proof that there is nothing like a chit frock with its own jacket or coat to give a woman the assurance of being perfectly attired. The dress, whether of silk, wool or synthetic, is ideal for days which are temperate while the addition of the coat provides an outfit that is perfect for the sudden drop in the mercury. Cool nights always demand a wrap and every woman knows that a wrap which matches a frock or at least looks as though it belongs with it is essential to a well-groomed appearance.

Costume suits always are "tops" among many St. Louis women who hurry to their favorite shops to choose the first arrivals as soon as fall has come. This season there is even greater interest in the complete ensembles not only because of the trend of fashions toward luxuriant dressmaker themes but because of the fact that many St. Louis women are busily engaged in the preparation of their homes for the coming winter.

Listen, you old maids!

You resigned of resentful women, drifting along through meaningless, empty lives. You women with your pitiful, exasperating alibis and pretenses, your ghastly, obvious hunger. Why did you get this way? Here's why you got that way!

But you didn't want to be used yourself. And men feel those things... and beat it while the beating's good.

LISTEN, you angry wives! You abused and revengeful women, everlasting relating your tale of sorrow. If you had used one hundred dollars to buy a new dress, you'd part the fine and energy and imagination working to make a man happy as you do in getting a hunk you wouldn't have any tale of sorrow to relate. Yes, I know that some men are Bad Numbers. But I know, too, that many a Lovely, Refined, Pure Lady can think up more dirt in a minute than a man could commit in a year. And nine times out of 10, you come to your marriages thinking such dirt, chockful of suspicion, prickly with Little Plans for Managing Men.

Then you wonder why YOUR man fails for some comfortable Blonds who at least let him think he's getting a break? Wotta surprise! You ask for it, then you yell your head off when you get it! Yet you say Love "abused" you! Lady, you wouldn't recognize Love if God introduced you. Where you belong is on the Poison Squad!

And lastly, you broken-hearted mothers... you mothers who spend your lives sobbing above some grave.

It is hard to tell: to you for I have been one of you, and I know your dreadful hurt. And yet you betray Love worst of all. You who have known real Love are betraying it with every tear... telling the world with every tear that Love was not worth what it costs.

How dare you stop loving... You have once known the beauty and generosity of love? How dare you sell your heart... You whose hearts once knew the glory of giving?

It is not loving to be broken-hearted because of Love. It is shameful!

You have no more right to keep a broken heart than you would to maintain a public nuisance!

Hearts were meant to be used. You have used your heart... you can use it again.

There are endless little ones starving for Love... crying out in the night for warmth, mothering arms.

There are endless men and women going lonely for lack of a friend or a mate.

Yet you refuse to use your heart because your one Love has gone!

YOU ARE A TRAITOR TO ALL THAT LOVE MEANS!

THAT BOYCE GIRL - - - A Romantic Serial - - - By R. H. DAVIS

She Met a Need
By Dale Carnegie

YOUVE heard of the Marx Brothers and the Ritz Brothers. Well, here's a story about the Ogilvie Sisters—not in the movies, but in business. There are seven of them, all in business together. And they've made an astonishing success of it.

This story was told to me by Miss Jessica Ogilvie.

The seven sisters were living in San Francisco. One day a policeman appeared at the door bringing tragic news. Their father had been accidentally killed.

There was no will, and very little money. A crisis had to be faced; something had to be done.

Jessica began studying shorthand and typewriting. When she went out to look for a job, she found herself handicapped by excessively oily hair. She did not wish to look untidy, so she went to a hair specialist. He said a prescription would cost her $25.

Her heart sank.

She consulted a pharmacist. He worked with him to develop a remedy, and at last found one which corrected the condition of her hair. Her friends were surprised to see the great change and asked her for the prescription.

One day a woman was so pleased that she gave her a formula for whitening discolored gray hair.

Now she had two formulas.

She wanted to tackle New York. People laughed. What: a girl with only two formulas attacking cold, merciless, money-mad New York! Well, she did it. All she had was her fare and two months' rent for an office. But she had two tremendously important assets which the scoffers didn't see—an idea and courage.

She rented a little two-by-four place on a side street. Business boomed. Exactly a year later she moved to Fifth avenue.

Then she sent for her sisters, and they came, one by one. They all lived together and worked together, did these Scotch-American girls. Now the sisters have their own shops in New York, Washington (D. C.), and in Paris. In addition, 2500 stores handle their preparations.

Since she knows so much about women in business, I asked her for some guideposts for girls in business. Here they are:

1. Wear feminine clothes. Don't go in for tailored suits with manish ties. Don't ape the men.

2. Don't expect the men to wait on you in an office. Don't expect to hold a man's job and then have him pamper and flatter you.

3. Depend on your intuition. Intuition is more highly developed in a woman than in a man and should be used to advantage.

4. If you find jealousy in your office, meet it with generosity. Nothing kills office jealousy as quickly as generosity.

5. Don't let the men in your office know it if you are smarter than they are.

The SEA-GOING TRACTOR

RUNS ON LAND-WATER-SWAMPLAND-MARSHLAND AT 30 MILES PER HOUR
Louisiana Marshlands. 1938

The odd and ingenious machine was developed to make possible oil prospecting in the marshlands of Louisiana. It is capable of carrying six to eight men and tools over land, water or marsh at 30 miles an hour. It consists of four huge steel drums which will keep the machine afloat in any kind of going and is driven by two eight-cylinder motors to which airplane propellers are attached. It is said to be the only one of its kind in the world.

Sally Refuses a Date With Gary, and It Has An Almost Immediate Effect on Walter's Job.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

IT was 6 o'clock when Sally concluded her deal with Adolph Gingrich, and not until she had given him a check for her commission and watched him drive away in a new Duluth, did she allow herself to believe that she had gotten away with it.

Sally's legs felt weak as she turned and retraced her steps to Philip Ulmer's office. She sank into a chair and Ulmer turned puzzled eyes on her.

"How in the world did you manage it, Sally?" he asked.

She explained the deal to Ulmer, adding, "I should have asked you first, but I couldn't see why you should object."

Ulmer's face still held that puzzled look. "Your father doesn't legally owe Mr. Gingrich anything, Sally," he protested. "Your father's creditors took everything he had."

"Dad will feel responsible so long as a dollar of it remains unpaid," Sally told him. Then she asked, "Do you object to my selling cars on that basis?"

Ulmer shrugged. "Why should I? I get my profit just the same." He leaned back in his chair, staring at her curiously. "I still find it hard to believe that you sold Gingrich."

Ulmer gave her an admiring twinkling glance. "Perhaps it pays to have red hair, after all. I wonder what Jeff will think when he hears about this."

Sally laughed. She hadn't seen Jeff since early morning, and hoped that he would return before she left. She could picture his amazement when he learned of her plans.

The telephone shrilled and Ulmer answered it; then pushed the instrument toward her.

"This is Gary Neylands, Sally." His eager anticipation gave way to dread. "Was something wrong with Walter? Had he been fired?" She managed to give him a fairly steady greeting.

"How is Walter getting along?" she asked.

"He seems to be doing pretty well," Gary told her, but his voice lacked enthusiasm. Then he asked, "Have you been selling any cars recently, Sally?"

"I've been doing pretty well," Sally said blandly. "I just sold a car to a man named Adolph Gingrich."

"That's nice, Sally," Gary said tonelessly. "Glad to hear you are doing well."

But there was something in his voice that made her wonder if he really was glad, and she was puzzled by the purpose of his call.

"I was wondering if you wouldn't like to play golf with me again tomorrow," Gary said.

"I'm sorry, Gary," Sally said kindly, "but I promised Walter that I would go swimming with him tomorrow."

Gary was silent for a moment, giving her time to wonder what would be the result of her refusal. Would he be angry? And would he vent his anger on her—or on Walter?

Gary sounded undisturbed: "I suppose I'll see you at the country club dance tonight, Sally?"

"Of course," Sally replied, and called herself silly for believing that he would be angered by anything so unimportant.

She was setting the phone down when the office door burst open and Jeff Rainey strode into the room. He gave Ulmer a frowning glance, ignoring Sally.

"Do you know that one of your new cars has been stolen?" Jeff asked, looking at Sally.

"One of our cars stolen?" Ulmer repeated, and shook his head. "No, I didn't know it."

"It's a fact," Jeff declared, and looked at Sally. "Do you remember that Gingrich fellow, whose ugly face you slapped?"

Sally nodded, suppressing a smile; she was beginning to understand.

"Yes, I remember him, Jeff."

"I just passed him out on South boulevard. He was hitting 70 in a new Duluth." Jeff scratched his head puzzledly. "It's darn funny, Gingrich has plenty of money. Can't understand why he should steal a car."

Ulmer exchanged a bland glance with Sally. "Maybe we'd better get in touch with the police," he said, grinning.

"What do you know that one of your new cars has been stolen?" Jeff asked again.

Ulmer chuckled. "Sally sold Gingrich a new Duluth, Jeff."

Jeff's knees buckled and he leaned weakly against the desk. He spread an incredulous glance between them.

"Tell me another," he growled.

Ulmer passed him Gingrich's contract and Jeff's eyes flicked over it, widening. He looked at Sally. "You sold that gorilla a car?" he wailed.

Sally nodded, grinning. "Why not?"

Jeff slapped the contract down, glared at her.

"That's Gingrich's signature, all right," Jeff conceded. "I sold him a car myself one time." He choked a little. "But how did you do it, Sally?"

Sally moved toward the door. "It isn't hard to sell cars," she purred sweetly, "when you know how."

She heard his footsteps behind her as she crossed the deserted display room; and he caught up with her at the front entrance.

"Just a minute, Sally," Jeff begged. "If you don't explain how you sold Gingrich, I'm liable to explode."

Sally allowed herself to be detained. Jeff's look of bewilderment, which gave way to one of admiration, as she explained, was very pleasant to see. When she had finished, Jeff nodded soberly.

"It took courage to go back to see Gingrich, Sally."

Sally was finding it possible to night to feel friendly toward everyone, even toward Jeff Rainey who said and did so many irritating things. Which reminded her of something.

"But Gary said that he might do that. You must not resent it, dear."

Walter's knock sent her running to the door. But when she saw his face her throat tightened.

"Why, what's wrong, dear?" she asked anxiously.

"I'll tell you on the way to the club," he said gruffly.

Hurriedly, Sally got a wrap and bade her mother good-night. When they were in Walter's car, she turned to him.

"You look positively sick, Walter. Tell me about it."

Walter gave her a quick, scowling glance. "Gary has shifted me to another department," he began, and seemed to choke on his resentment.

Walter's barking laugh made her shiver. "But he's cut my salary in half. I'm to get $70 next week."

"He cut you from $40 to $20?" Sally murmured, aghast. "But what reason did he give?"

"Oh, he gave darn good reasons," Walter sneered. "Says he intends to shift me from one job to another, so that he can't get rid of me."

"I'll tell you to explain something to me, Jeff."

Jeff stared at her curiously. "Name it."

"Why did you tell Walter about that job at the plot works?"

Jeff's eyes narrowed. "I'd rather not explain that."

Sally frowned at him. "I would like to know your reason about it, dear."

Jeff hesitated. "I just thought Walter might do better working for another firm." He had a little smile. "But you must remember that I don't like Gary Neylands."

There was something in his manner, rather than in his words, that made her feel resentful.

"Why should Walter do better elsewhere?" she demanded.

"I'd rather not talk about it, Sally."

"Are you afraid to tell me?"

Jeff's mouth tightened. "You're asking for it, Sally."

"He broke off, turning away.

"Wait!" she said angrily, and when you turned again. "I demand that you tell me."

Jeff shrugged resignedly. "In my opinion, Gary gave Walter a job just to please you."

Sally's fingers curled. Jeff Rainey had a face that badly needed slapping—

Jeff said grimly, "If you slap me, Sally Boyce, I'll shake the breath out of you."

Sally was furious, but not too furious to read in his eyes that he would undoubtedly shake the breath out of her if she slapped him. Her fingers uncurled—reluctantly.

"How dare you say such a thing!" she gasped and remembered miserably that Walter had gone to work for Gary only after she had asked him.

"You demanded my opinion and you got it," Jeff snapped.

Sally's eyes blazed at him. "I hate you!"

She felt that the blue eyes staring at her were growing wider and wider, consuming her. She was drowning in their blue depths—

"I wonder if you do?" Jeff said softly.

Now that she was calm again, she had to admit that she had asked for his opinion, so there had been no reason for the fury that had gripped her.

Walter's knock sent her running to the door. But when she saw his face her throat tightened.

"Why, what's wrong, dear?" she asked anxiously.
